Truman Denounces False Philosophy Of Communism, War

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Truman keyed his inaugural address today to the quickening struggle between the democratic west and the Communist east. Immediately after being sworn in for his first full term as President of the United States he pledged a world-wide crusade for "peace, plenty and freedom." It was a blistering speech denouncing the "false philosophy" of Communism and war.

10 Million See Inauguration By Television

NEW YORK (AP)—A television audience of 10,000,000 persons in the east and mid-west is estimated to have seen today's Presidential inauguration.

Many more millions throughout the nation and in other countries were linked to the Washington scene by radio.

Today was the first time a Presidential inauguration had been televised.

THE TIMETABLE

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Here's the schedule Washington followed today in its biggest inauguration party:

12:30 to 1 p.m.—Official party had lunch in Capitol.

Born in Milton, Ont., Mr. Watson came here in 1889. He served in the legislature from 1903 until 1916.

He was a prominent Mason, having been a member of the Supreme Grand Council of the Scottish Rite and a past deputy of that order in British Columbia.

Frozen To Death

Prairies Still Shivering, Most Manitoba Roads Open

WINNIPEG (CP)—The prairie provinces shivered under a cold wave today, and it was not expected to let up for another 36 hours.

In Ontario, a gale which caused widespread damage Wednesday had blown itself out and clear, cold weather prevailed. Fine weather greeted the Maritimes today after a freezing rain, driven by a strong southwest gale, which lashed the three provinces Thursday night. There were no reports of damage.

Reports from outlying parts of Manitoba indicated temperatures of 30 degrees below zero were general in Winnipeg the

While he cautioned that the material resources of the United States are limited, he promised to draw deeply on the "inexhaustible" resources of the country's technical know-how to help free peoples everywhere.

Communism "holds that war is inevitable," Truman told a crowd of thousands. And even now, he said, it is endangering attempts to keep world peace.

TO DO HIS BEST

Vowing humbly and solemnly to do his level best as President of the United States, he said: "I accept with humility . . . As hundreds of thousands of his proud countrymen watched—and the whole world listened—the 64-year-old Truman said quietly:

"I accept with humility the honor which the American people have conferred upon me. I accept it with a deep resolve to do all that I can for the welfare of this nation and for the peace of the world."

NEEDS HELP

He made no pretence about being able to do the job alone. "I need the help and prayers of every one of you," said the war veteran, the one-time haberdasher, the former senator.

This was the impressive, breath-taking climax of the biggest, noisiest, gaudiest presidential inaugural in United States history.

Mr. Truman was sworn in at 12:23 p.m. Vice-President Barkley had taken the oath at 12:23 p.m.

97-Mile Tail Wind Aids Plane Record

MONTREAL (CP)—A 97-mile tail wind helped a British Overseas Airways Corporation Constellation set a record for the Montreal-Prestwick flight Wednesday. B.O.A.C. officials announced today. The four-motored Baltimore, piloted by Capt. Herbert Lazelle made the flight in eight hours nine minutes. Previous record was eight hours 34 minutes.

Shivering, Roads Open

mercury sank to an overnight low of 43 below, and the high for today was forecast as 25 below. A fog hung over the city. The late morning temperature was 32 below.

Load of fresh snowfall enabled the highways department to report that more than three-quarters of Manitoba's highways now were open after last week-end's snow blizzard.

Brandon, Man., reported a temperature of 48 below early today, with no wind blowing. It was 35 below and foggy at Moose Jaw, Sask.

Regina was a chilly spot, with a morning temperature of 43 below.

Price Of Canada Wheat To Britain Still $2

OTTAWA (CP)—The government announced today that the 1949-50 wheat price under the four-year Anglo-Canadian wheat contract will be $2 a bushel.

That will cover 140,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat and wheat flour to be shipped to Britain through the Canadian Wheat Board during the final year of agreement.

Though the announcement did not say so, the price presumably will be basis Fort William, Port Arthur, Vancouver and Churchill, Man.

It represents no change from the $2 a bushel being paid for the 140,000,000 bushels going to the United Kingdom in the current crop year—1948-49.

The 150-word announcement said the British and Canadian negotiators took into account but did not take final action upon the "have regard" clause of the main agreement.

This is the clause under which the United Kingdom agreed, in establishing the 1949-50 price, to take into account the low prices at which Canada sold her wheat to Britain in the first two years of the agreement—1946-47 and 1947-48. In those years, the price was $1.55 a bushel, far below the world price.

Settle Obligations Next Year

The announcement added: "The two governments have agreed that their representatives shall meet not later than July 31, 1950, to settle any obligations of the United Kingdom which may still be outstanding under clause 2(b) (the "have regard" clause) of the agreement."

"The extent to which any such obligations will remain will depend largely upon the actual prices ruling for wheat during 1949-50."

The government's political foes have charged that Canadian wheat producers have lost millions of dollars through the sale of wheat at cheap prices at a time when world prices, as established by the open market at Chicago, were at inflation levels.

The current Chicago price is around $2.25 a bushel, still about 25 cents above the contract rate.

The announcement gave no indication how Britain's "obligations" as to prices will be settled by July 31, 1950.

However, it is known the negotiators considered the possibility of a cash payment to Canada at the end of the contract period as a means of reimbursing the Canadian farmers.

Also considered in the negotiations—but not mentioned in the announcement—was the possibility of an extension of the contract itself as an alternative means of repaying the producers for their 1946-47, 1947-48 losses.

$250,000 For Louis On Canadian Tour

ROCHESTER, Minn. (CP)—Joe Louis, heavyweight boxing champion, today was offered $250,000 for a five-month, coast-to-coast exhibition tour of Canada, his press representative said.

Harry Mendel said the offer had been received from Jack Allen of Toronto. Mendel added that Louis had asked for more details on the proposal.

B.C. Electric 1949 Program Will Cost $24,000,000

The B.C. Electric Co. Ltd. and its subsidiaries are planning to spend $24,000,000 in 1949 on capital expenditures for electric, gas and transportation services, it was learned today.

Details of the company's plans were submitted to the Public Utilities Commission and the provincial cabinet with an application for approval to issue $3,000,000 worth of 4% per cent cumulative redeemable preferred shares with a par value of $100. Both the commission and the government approved the application.

The issue, which is expected to net the company $2,880,000, will go toward its $24,000,000 development program of 1949.

Bulk of the money for the 1949 development will be raised by a bond issue which is expected to be sought shortly. The company has only $2,000,000 immediately available for the program.

GOOD SHARE FOR ISLAND

A major share of the overall program will be on the mainland but the company expects to spend $1,200,000 on the construction of a transmission line to link up Victoria with the B.C.

7.5-Cent Rate For Water In Victoria

A preliminary water rate for 1949 was fixed at 7.5 cents per 1,000 gallons, for sales to member municipalities, at a meeting of the administration board of the Greater Victoria Water District.

The district may revise this rate downwards at any time during the year. If expenses remained as budgeted, and water sales increased by 300,000,000 gallons, which is 2 per cent over 1947, the rate per 1,000 gallons would drop to below 7 cents.

Lineman Ray Casey Badly Injured In Fall From Pole

B.C. Electric lineman Raymond Joseph Casey, 900 W. Gorge Road, was seriously injured in a 40-foot fall at 9:30 this morning and is at St. Joseph's Hospital.

The accident occurred while Casey was working on one of the poles at the intersection of Gorge and Harriet Roads to work on a transformer.

The son of Joseph Casey, line superintendent, the lineman is believed to have suffered a fractured pelvis, wrist and leg, a cut head and undetermined back injuries. X-rays were taken this morning to find full extent of his injuries. He was taken to hospital by a C. & C. Ambulance.

The injured lineman is being attended by Dr. L. L. Ptak.

According to eye-witnesses, Casey used his safety belt while climbing the pole and unhooked it in order to climb over one of the cross-arms.

That is when the accident occurred. It is believed his foot slipped on the cross-arm, probably due to ice, and fell to the ground.

Ulster Election Set For Feb. 10

BELFAST (Reuter)—Sir Basil Brooke, Prime Minister of Northern Ireland, announced today that the Ulster parliament would be dissolved tomorrow. A general election will take place Feb. 10.

The election was regarded here as Northern Ireland's answer to the declaration of a republic in Eire which has officially severed her last link with the British crown.

Start In March Will Call For More Workers On Lighthouse Vessel

Next Move In China's Civil War Up To Reds

NANKING (AP)—The government tonight offered to halt hostilities and talk peace in China's civil war, but left to the Communists the next move.

In North China a separate peace agreement suitable to both sides reportedly has been reached, but not put into effect. This agreement would cover only that part of North China still in government hands.

The Kuomintang party's powerful central political council today approved the cabinet's resolution calling for a cease-fire order and the beginning of peace negotiations.

President Chiang Kai-shek has not spoken. But government spokesman, Shen Chang-huan, obviously speaking with Chiang's knowledge and approval, made it plain—the government considers its responsibility for peace ended for the time being and that it is now up to the Communists.

NO MORE OVERTURES

Said Shen: "There will be no more peace overtures until the Communists have expressed their desire for a similar halt in hostilities. Then and then only will the National government consider ordering cease-fire and sending a delegation to discuss negotiations."

Chiang may override both the Executive Yuan and the Kuomintang. The Communists have remained silent since their tough leader, Mao Tse-tung, told the National government if it wanted peace to put down its guns.

Announcement from Ottawa today that Yarrows Ltd., Victoria shipyard, has been awarded an $879,600 contract for construction of a lighthouse supply and buoy vessel for Prince Rupert was greeted as welcome news by officials of local shipbuilding unions.

"It will be a godsend to many of our men who are now unemployed and whose unemployment insurance benefits have expired," said R. Patterson, secretary-treasurer of Local 238 of the Shipyard Workers' Federal Union.

He added that other trades, pipe-fitters, machinists, shipwrights and shipyard laborers had many unemployed men in the city. The Shipyard Workers' Union is made up of men in boiler-making trades.

At present there are about 200 members of this union either out of work or doing casual labor in the city, Mr. Patterson reported.

H. A. Wallace, head of Yarrows Ltd., said that his firm will hire some additional men later in the year.

He pointed out that the designing of the vessel according to Department of Transport specifications will be started immediately, and that actual construction will start around the middle of March.

"By then we will have completed the four lighthouse tenders now being outfitted and can transfer our present employees to the new job. Just how many more men we will have to hire will depend on what other work we obtain," Mr. Wallace said.

He would not estimate the number of men to be taken on, but indicated it would not be a mass hiring.

Praises Mayhew's Efforts

Mr. Wallace emphasized the fact that, through the efforts of Hon. R. W. Mayhew, federal Minister of Fisheries, and Transport Minister Lionel Chevrier, only west coast shipyards were permitted to submit tenders for the contract.

This is in line with the policy set forth by the Maritime Commission, headed by J. V. Clyme, Mr. Wallace said.

He believes that all shipyards on this coast tendered for the job.

The vessel is slated for delivery early next year. Her steel hull will be 150 feet long and 30 feet wide. Twin screws, powered by two 1,000 horsepower diesel engines, will give her a speed of 13½ knots.

The ship, which will service aids to navigation in the Prince Rupert area, will carry a crew of 25, and will have additional accommodation for officials and lighthouse employees.

Take Steps To Halt Bow, Arrow Hunting

Initial steps have been taken by the local branch of the S.P.C.A., in conjunction with other branches of the provincial humane organization, to secure legislation prohibiting the hunting with bow and arrow of game animals in B.C.

Officials of the Victoria branch said letters had been sent to prominent members of the Legislature, and replies so far received "have been encouraging."

Inaugural Ceremony Insured By Lloyds

Board Rules To Hear Evidence On C.P.R. Non-Rail Revenues

OTTAWA (CP)—Provinces opposing freight rate increases scored a victory today when the Board of Transport Commissioners ruled it would hear evidence on non-rail income of the railways in their case for higher rates.

A short fight over this issue of "other income" developed when C. W. Brazier, British Columbia counsel, sought to question a Canadian Pacific Railway witness on its non-rail revenues.

He was allowed to do so after C.P.R. counsel had objected.

TO EASE BURDEN

The provinces contend "other income"—which amounted to $25,000,000 for the C.P.R. last year—should be taken into consideration in setting freight rates to ease the burden on the shipper.

The board left it out of consideration in awarding an increase of 21 per cent to the railways last year, and the railways claim it should not be used in setting freight rates.

Today, C.P.R. counsel objected when Mr. Brazier wanted to open up the subject, pointing to the board's earlier rejection of "other income" by the board.

However, chief commissioner M. B. Archibald said that the cabinet, in ordering the board last fall to review last year's increase award to the railways, had directed it to apportion certain charges as between rail and non-rail operations.

For the board to make that determination, Mr. Justice Archibald ruled, it would have to examine "other income."

Under the B.C. counsel's questioning, S. J. W. Liddy, C.P.R. assistant controller, said he could not give the C.P.R.'s "other income" for 1948.

He said the figures would not be available for at least a month, as reports had not been received on subsidiary operations such as steamships, hotels and stock holdings.

However, he could say that dividends paid the C.P.R. by its subsidiary Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company had risen to $18,500,000 in 1948, compared with $13,460,000 the year before.

One Woman's Day

By NANCY HODGES

MEMORIALS AND MISERIES

RIFFLING OVER THE PAGES of a London newspaper which arrived in our last batch of English mail, my eye was caught by an intriguing heading: "The Colonel Declines the Honor."

Thinking it had something to do with the New Year's honors list I glanced through the item, only to find that the honor the gentleman was declining—and which warranted headlines—was an invitation to perform the opening ceremony of a new building in the village.

His refusal to officiate is the final chapter in a controversy which has centred about the building in question ever since it was started 18 months ago in the little village of Chipping Sodbury, Gloucestershire.

CONTROVERSIAL BUT COMIC

BECAUSE I AM SURE that all England chuckled over this storm in a rural teacup, and because I found it so diverting, I am adapting it to this column in the hope that readers will enjoy it as much as I did.

It appears that the controversial building in question cost over $4,000, or about $16,000. It stands in the wide, main street of the picturesque village in the Cotswold country, and "over one entrance is the word 'Men' and over the other 'Women'."

The suggestion of an official opening ceremony was knocked on the head by a majority vote in Sodbury Rural District Council, when Minute 219 came up for discussion.

PUBLIC HEALTH MINUTE

THE MINUTE referred to a meeting of the public health service committee, at which it was decided to recommend to the council a formal opening for this newest addition to the public health facilities of the place.

The council chairman, who happens to be the colonel to whom I have already alluded, indignantly asked: "What do you want to arrange? A brass band or something of that sort?"

And when a member replied that the chairman should perform the opening ceremony, the gallant colonel showed his customary retort that he "would have nothing to do with it."

MEMORIAL MOTIF

BUT THE FUNNIEST MOMENT of all—to my perhaps perverted sense of humor—came when another member of the rural council pointed out that tablet on the outside wall gave the impression that the convenience had been erected to the memory of a certain lieutenant-colonel, who fought at Waterloo and died in 1871.

Whereupon a council official explained that the clock which had been incorporated in the building was the memorial to the gallant hero of the Napoleonic wars, and not the building itself. "We are taking steps to alter the tablet to make that clear," he added.

I am glad they are making that point clear, if only for the sake of future passersby who might wonder at the peculiar nature of such a memorial to a long-dead soldier.

PURELY FUNCTIONAL

THE CHEQUERED HISTORY of our own Memorial Arena has proved that there are two schools of thought on the matter of memorials—those who incline to the artistic, monumental type, and those who prefer the functional.

But even our most caustic local critics must admit that Victoria at least has improved on Chipping Sodbury's controversial concept of the fitness of things in its arena, even if the English village controversy does savor something of the vicissitudes of the now defunct Pandora Avenue lighthouse.

In the meantime, I cannot help wondering if some unfortunate official of that village council has not met his Waterloo, too, in this comedy of convenience.

Vancouver Island Bulb Growers Form New Marketing Association

Organization of a large new association of Southern Vancouver Island bulb growers to market thousands of tulip, daffodil and iris bulbs they produce annually, was announced today.

Final details in the formation of the group were completed at a meeting Wednesday of directors.

Name of the organization is the Vancouver Island Bulb Growers' Association.

The new group comprises the entire membership of the 11-year-old Saanich Bulb Growers' Association, which ceases to function, and such large previously independent growers as J. W. Howroyd, Sidney, Woolridge Bulb Farms Ltd., Brentwood, and G. A. Vantreigh Jr., Victoria.

Members believe the new association will provide an orderly and economical marketing of their bulbs, and a further control on the quality of the product shipped.

Secretary-manager of the new association is a former Vancouver man, Archie Bain, who was manager of the Saanich association. Mr. Bain has purchased land in Saanich to join the ranks of bulb growers.

PRESIDENT CHOSEN

Heading the organization as president is J. H. Thompson, long-time resident of Saanich.

Other officers are: J. W. Howroyd, vice-president; W. C. Hall, Ray Woolridge, W. H. McNally, G. A. Vantreigh Jr., and Martin Neilson, directors.

It was announced that the secretary-manager, Mr. Bain, would leave shortly on a trip to eastern Canada making known to the florist trade across the Dominion the formation of the new association, and seeking orders for the coming season.

Over 60 bulb growers, the majority on Saanich peninsula, comprise membership in the association.

Among former independent growers who have joined the group are: J. R. Coombs, Saanich; R. C. Henderson, Victoria; Arthur Lahmer, Victoria; W. E. Lake, Saanich; Mrs. J. Molofy, Esquimalt; Karl Pedersen, Royal Oak.

Romance Slipped As Gossip Spread

TORONTO (CP)—Elderly Mr. and Mrs. Benson F. Morris found happiness and marriage through a lonely hearts' club, but the romance soon was put on the skids by "niggardly gossip."

That was Judge J. Currey's comment when Mrs. Morris brought hubby to court Wednesday to collect back payments under a separation agreement. They separated shortly after their September, 1947, marriage, which followed a correspondence romance.

Judge Currey adjourned the case to Feb. 7, advising the couple, who hail from Lefroy, on Lake Simcoe, to ignore the "niggardly gossip" of their in-laws and effect a reconciliation.

Senator Robinson Dies; Vacancies Increase To 17

SUMMERSIDE, P.E.I. (CP)—Senator B. W. Robinson died at his home here early today after a five-day illness. He was 58.

Brewer Waugh Robinson, born here Jan. 9, 1891, was elected as a Liberal to the Prince Edward Island Legislature in the 1939 provincial election. He went overseas in 1942 with Canadian Legion War Services and was in Britain at the time of the 1943 P.E.I. election.

Senate April 9, 1945.

Senator Robinson was a prominent silver fox rancher and was director of the Prince Edward Island Fur Pool Ltd.

He was president of Robinson's Mill and Bakery Ltd. and served as mayor of Summerside, the province's second largest centre, in 1936-37.

He served overseas for four years in the First World War. He is survived by his wife and five sisters.

His death leaves 64 Liberals in the Senate. There are 15 Progressive Conservatives in the Upper House and 17 vacancies.

Thaw To Bring Curbs On Vehicles Using Up-Island Highways

Officials of the provincial works department reported today that restrictions on loads and speeds will be put on vehicles using up-island roads just as soon as the frost starts to soften them up.

It was indicated that the orders have already been prepared and will be posted as soon as the thaw begins.

Already restrictions on loads of trucks and buses and speeds of all vehicular traffic have been put on vehicles using side roads in the Saanich and Esquimalt electoral districts. The restrictions on the up-island roads will also most likely not apply to the main highways which are of sufficiently strong construction to withstand traffic during the thaw without damage.

So far as the headquarters of the department has been informed all the up-island roads are in good shape at present.

Waiting Lists Grow At Hospitals Here

The waiting lists of persons wanting admittance to Victoria's two hospitals are growing but to date no emergency patients have been delayed in securing hospital accommodation.

Officials at both Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's hospitals reported today that the urgency of care was the determining factor in deciding the length of wait before admission to the hospitals. The length of time that a person has been waiting to get into the hospital is also taken into consideration.

January is usually a busy month for the hospitals which were full when the B.C. Hospital Insurance scheme came into operation Jan. 1. Since then, largely because of the introduction of the service, the waiting lists for both hospitals have grown considerably.

Officials at both hospitals said that they were managing to get by. The waiting periods for non-emergency patients vary from day to day so that it is impossible to indicate generally how long the waiting period will be.

Wants Lawyers Out Of Negotiations

R. P. Pettipiece, union nominee on a conciliation board attempting to solve a dispute between the Hammond Furniture Co. Ltd., Vancouver, and the International Union of Operating Engineers, Local 882, feels that union contracts could be more effectively negotiated if lawyers were kept out.

In a minority report to the Labor Relations Board, Mr. Pettipiece outlined his views.

"As an old-time trade unionist I am not particularly impressed with trying to settle labor disputes with lawyers so much in evidence," he said. "They lack the necessary background for an unprejudiced decision; they make their living working for corporations—and one sometimes gets the idea that they are still doing so."

The board, in a majority award, suggested a 6 per cent or 5-cent per hour wage increase, whichever is greater—the same increase as awarded other employees of the company. Only five employees are involved.

Mr. Pettipiece backed the union's demand for 25 cents per hour.

Other members of the board were H. P. Wyness, chairman, and J. C. Campbell.

Charge of theft of a motor car engine, lodged against William Heller Jr., 1027 Sutledge Street, 19 years old, last Thursday in city police court, was withdrawn in the court today and a charge of possession of a motor he knew to be stolen was read against him. The engine is the property of Victor Merriman, 997 Fort Street. Case was adjourned for one week at the request of P. J. Sinnott, defence counsel, Inspector Harry Mercer, chief of city detectives, reported that a youth has been arrested on warrant in Vancouver in connection with the theft of the engine.

President Emphasizes 4 Major Courses Of Action

WASHINGTON—The United States and other non-Communist countries, President Truman declared at his inauguration today, have been balking in their work for "a just and lasting peace by a regime with contrary aims and a totally different concept of life."

The initiative "is ours," he said. The United States program for peace and freedom would emphasize "four major courses of action."

1. Unflinching support of the United Nations.
2. Continuation of programs for world economic recovery.
3. Strengthening of the free countries of the world against the danger of aggression.
4. A program to make the benefits of United States scientific advances and industrial progress available in the world's under-developed areas.

"We have already established such a defence pact for the western hemisphere by the treaty of Rio de Janeiro."

"The primary purpose of these agreements is to provide unmistakable proof of the joint determination of the free countries to resist armed attack from any quarter."

"If we can make it sufficiently clear, in advance, that any armed attack affecting our national security would be met with overwhelming force, the armed attack might never occur."

Truman said he hopes soon

Abbott Needs $800 A Minute For Interest On National Debt

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA (CP)—Without batting an eye, an urbane gentleman from Montreal will shortly inform the Canadian people he'll be needing between $750 and $850 a minute in the next fiscal year to soothe their largest hangover.

Finance Minister Abbott, in all, will ask for something beyond $400,000,000 to pay the interest on the national debt.

The sum he asks will be roughly 20 per cent of his entire budget and the equivalent of an entire average prewar budget, but the minister will make no pretence that this will end the hangover.

RESULT OF WARS

Canada's gross federal liability is $17,200,000,000, largely made up of the unpaid bills of two wars and a depression.

That sum is roughly six times all the money the federal treasury will take in this year: three times Canada's record foreign trade, both exports and imports, this year.

Nice people usually refer to the net debt, which is the liabilities minus assets such as loans and credits to foreign powers, investments, and cash. At the end of March, 1948, the net debt was $12,372,000,000 or nearly $1,000 for every Canadian.

The $400,000,000 Mr. Abbott asks, for instance, will set off a dizzy series of circles in keeping with the best of hangovers. It will come out of the taxes of Canadian individuals and corporations and it will be paid back to Canadian individuals and corporations, such as banks and insurance companies.

For if there is one thing the experts are proud of it is this: Canadians owe nearly all this liability to themselves. This, for one thing, means a great saving in foreign exchange.

The experts say you shouldn't try too strenuously to figure all this out. It only makes the hangover worse.

Shift In Diplomatic Corps Among Government Changes

OTTAWA (CP)—A number of changes in the government service was announced at a press conference Wednesday night by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Topping the list was a three-way shift in Canada's diplomatic corps, not to become effective until March because of distances to be traveled and other factors.

They involve the appointment of Arnold Heene, 46, Clerk of the Privy Council, as Under-Secretary of State for External Affairs, the return of Norman Robertson, 45, Canadian High Commissioner in London, to take Mr. Heene's job, and the transfer of Dana Wilgress, 57, Canadian Minister to Switzerland, to London to replace Mr. Robertson.

The new minister to Switzerland is expected to be Dr. E. H. N. Coleman, 55, Under-Secretary of State. Mr. St. Laurent said he is being posted to a diplomatic mission abroad but his destination cannot be announced until the government to which he is being accredited formally accepts the appointment. This may come today.

OTHER POSTS

Other announcements were: Charles Stein, assistant deputy minister of justice, is to be Under-Secretary of State, succeeding Mr. Coleman.

Gordon Mills, former deputy minister for naval affairs, to be controller-general of inspection services with the rank of associate deputy minister of national defence.

C. M. Drury, formerly of External Affairs and one time director of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration in Poland, to be deputy minister of defence.

J. R. Baldwin, assistant clerk of the Privy Council and the government's expert on international civil aviation, to be chairman of the air transport board.

William E. Mitchell, Montreal barrister, to be judge of the superior court for the district of St. Francis in the eastern townships of Quebec.

First Sod Turned At Site Of New Publicity Bureau

First sod at the site of the new Victoria & Island Publicity Bureau on Government Street was turned this afternoon by Mayor Percy George and J. Carl Pendray, chairman of a Rotary Club committee which is in charge of the project.

Following removal of the first spadeful of earth from the triangular piece of land at the northern end of the C-useway, just down from the service station on the corner of Government and Wharf Streets, further excavation was left for regular construction men.

Mr. Pendray said construction on the site will start immediately. It is planned to have the new bureau offices completed by early May so they can be officially opened while Rotarians from all parts of the Pacific Northwest are here attending their annual summer convention.

Cost of the building will be $20,000 which the club raised in a public subscription drive.

The city has given the club a 20-year lease on the property and has agreed to charge no taxes or rent on it.

Others officiating at this afternoon's sod-turning ceremony were Louis Michell, Rotary president; Jeff Arnett, immediate past president, and George I. Warren, publicity bureau commissioner.

Seek Unified Code Tank Installation

A unified code for British Columbia in plumbing and septic tank installation is sought by the Veterans' Land Act and the B.C. Branch of the National Association of Plumbing and Heating Contractors.

The city was so advised today by R. Bowering, director of the division of environmental sanitation of the Provincial Department of Health and Welfare.

Mr. Bowering asked to be supplied with copies of by-laws the city might have in connection with plumbing and septic tanks.

He said the V.L.A. has encountered much variance in municipal plumbing and septic tank by-laws.

Believe Man Used False Name To Rent Car

B. Shaw, of Gee's U-drive firm, Wednesday asked police to be on the lookout for one of their cars, a 1938 sedan. He said the car was rented to a man last Sunday and that neither the car nor man have been seen since. Mr. Shaw said he believed the person gave a fictitious name.

Secret Of Dead Woman Argued In Appeal Court

Mrs. Wied's silence as to how she received a four-inch knife wound on the base of her neck, which resulted in her death in the Royal Jubilee Hospital last July 17, came up for argument in Appeal Court today.

John Groves Gould, counsel for Jacob E. Wied, convicted of murdering his wife, pointed out that Wied in the presence of his wife, and a police officer said: "She fell on the knife."

Mrs. Wied, who at the time was lying on a couch in her room in a Yates Street apartment, made no comment when Wied voluntarily tried to explain to police how his wife received the wound, he said.

Mr. Gould interpreted the woman's silence to mean that she agreed with her husband's explanation.

A different view was taken by W. H. M. Haldane, Crown counsel, in his argument in court today.

Mrs. Wied was suffering from shock, loss of blood and intoxication," said Mr. Haldane. "How could you expect the woman to say anything?"

He added that her silence could not mean anything due to her condition, and he could not see how the court could infer that she agreed with her husband's explanation.

"The evidence shows there was plenty of blood in the room," said the counsel who volunteered to produce as exhibits some of the blood soaked articles found in the room. "She was also intoxicated."

The counsel felt that Mrs. Wied was incapable of saying anything at the time.

Wied's appeal is now in its fourth day. The hearing is expected to last until Friday.

Start Work On Arena Despite Delay In Preparing Contract

Possibility that the city will not have the Memorial Arena contract ready for signing until the middle of next week, or later, is not going to hold up Luney Bros. and Hamilton Ltd. from getting on with the job.

William Hamilton, partner in the firm, said today workmen will be on the job Monday morning even though the contract may not be signed.

"I don't want to be a grouser, but I do object to a delay of this kind when we have given the city a time limit on completing the job, and the city expects us to live up to it," Mr. Hamilton said.

He objected to the city's failure to provide his company with plans and specifications for the job. Two days elapsed from the time the local builders were awarded the contract to complete the rink at a cost between $151,000 and $160,000, and when plans were made available.

"The only thing we have had from the city officially is a letter confirming that our tender was accepted by the City Council," Mr. Hamilton said.

"We think the citizens want to see this job under way, and we would like to see some immediate action," he added. "This is not our way of doing business—this delay appears to be unnecessary."

Arthur Patton, city solicitor, whose job it is to draw up the contract, said Wednesday it might be four or five days before the papers were ready for signing.

He said there were "pages and pages" of specifications to be checked before the contract would be ready, as well as other details.

NAMES SUPERINTENDENT

Mr. Hamilton announced today that superintendent for the job of completing the arena will be Fred Bolton of his company.

Richard Hill, foreman on the job when the city was handling the construction work, will be retained as foreman, working under Mr. Bolton.

Mr. Hamilton said Mr. Hill's knowledge of the work already done will be available to his company.

McKay Brock, 335 Moss Street, reported to city police Wednesday night that he was the driver of the car which A. H. Johnson, 350 Linden Avenue, complained to police had jumped the curb at Cook and Oscar Streets and narrowly missed him, according to a report at the Fisgard Street station.

BREAD AND BUTTER LAWS

CANADA'S TRADE FIGURES FOR THE first 11 months of 1948, now being compiled for the record, show that the Dominion bought more goods from Britain during the past year than ever before. Without including December figures in the total, Canadian imports from the United Kingdom reached $275,000,000, which is $75,000,000 greater than the previous postwar record in 1946. The inclination toward British purchases was duplicated in Commonwealth business. Last year's total of imports from all such countries—including South Africa, Australia and New Zealand—was $100,000,000 more than 1947, the previous best year. The question of "why don't we buy more British goods," which is asked on occasion by individuals and groups in this country, is thus answered in unequivocal terms. We do.

While we were thus expanding our purchases from Britain, we were decreasing our buying in the United States. Imports from our southern neighbor in the first 11 months of 1948 were $200,000,000 less than for the similar period of 1947, a direct result of the "austerity" program by which we were enabled to conserve our rapidly dwindling supply of United States funds.

This point comes sharply to mind in any consideration of present-day British trade. There has been criticism in recent weeks of Britain's action in contracting for large amounts of timber and other products from Poland and neighboring countries within the Russian orbit; it was felt that these goods should have been bought from Canada. The plain fact is that sentiment can be allowed but a small place in modern economics. No matter how much Britain might desire to "buy Canadian," she cannot if she does not have the dollars with which to pay. Imports from Poland can be paid for in pounds, therefore the purchasing must be done in Poland. The situation parallels our own relations with the United States. Harsh economic realities dictated our withdrawal from the American market to buy elsewhere—or do without. Friendly relations and sentiment could not change the facts.

Every effort certainly should be made to improve the traditional trading relationship between Canada and the United Kingdom. However, offers of products will have to be accompanied by suggestions as to how they may be paid for; and in this connection the proposal of Premier Byron Johnson that Canadian timber be traded for British steel may yet bear fruit. But Britain historically has traded where she could do the best business. A nation of 50,000,000 dependent upon the resources of a small island and the initiative and ingenuity of its people has little other choice, no matter how highly it may hold the ideal of Commonwealth family solidarity.

Britain cannot and will not exist on charity, any more than Canada can, or would. To make her way she must buy and sell where economics dictates—and this, after all, must be the long-term consideration of any country. True, there may be complementary considerations of military value, maintenance of prestige and other factors, but even these cannot be indulged in the face of threatened bankruptcy.

INTO ANOTHER CENTURY

ALTHOUGH THE KINGSTON WHIG-Standard has just celebrated the 100th anniversary of its birth, it should be recalled that on February 7, 1849, the British Whig—the parent institution—began publication as a semi-weekly in the proud Ontario community which has contributed so much to Canadian progress and enlightenment in the intervening years. So when publisher-editor-in-chief Senator William Rupert Davies points with justifiable pride to the centennial of his influential daily, none will complain if his journalistic chest is protruding in excess of its normal limit.

It is a far cry from the techniques of the fourth decade of the last century to the unpredictabilities of this year of grace, 1949; but those of us who began to smell printing ink almost on the morrow of our emergence from the cradle naturally have a friendly feeling for the publisher and editor of the Kingston Whig-Standard who planted his foot on the ladder of success when he became a "printer's devil." Though he is a highly-respected and capable member of the Red Chamber at Ottawa, Rupert Davies has never lost touch with the "apprentices" who "learned their boxes" in a hard and difficult school. The quoted term may be Greek to the uninitiated; but many Canadians like the Southams, the Dufours, and others of their ilk who have added their quota to the fabric which is modern Canada will understand our meaning. These were the craftsmen; these were the men who did the important underpinning job in Canadian journalism upon which the free press of this country securely rests at this moment; these were the men who so obviously made possible the permanence of free writing, knowing that a great public would read the results of sound thinking through the printed word. In this galaxy of famous Canadian editors is included Davies, the young Welsh boy who left his native land and came to Canada in the waning days of the last century.

So the Victoria Daily Times, now in its 65th year, congratulates Senator Davies, the Kingston Whig-Standard, and a capable and loyal staff on the centenary of the daily edition. It is full of important information on the community in which it circulates; it is exemplary in its typographical excellence; it is an impressive reminder of how times have changed since Publisher Edward John Barker founded the British Whig in 1834.

JUVENILES AND GUNS

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S BRIEF RETURN to frontier days has ended apomously with the disclosure that the reported gun fight between Indians and looters on Texada Island was nothing more than a hoax "dreamed up" by juveniles. According to report, the incident occurred when a gang, playing with guns, "apparently misdirected a couple of shots into a house." The news dispatch adds that no one was injured and no charges have been laid.

The incident, however, lends added point to the arguments of older people who are seriously concerned over the irresponsible manner in which boys are allowed to play with guns. Recently it will be recalled, a resident of Saanich was struck by a pellet from an air rifle. And, over the years, the city's street lighting department has had occasion to protest the vandalism of young marksmen who have used globes as their targets. Moreover, the periodic reports of small children killing or maiming their fellows by discharging guns that have been left physically accessible to them serve to underscore the need for caution in respect of guns.

It is, of course, contrary to the law for juveniles to carry firearms without the attendance of a responsible adult. Furthermore, air rifles are listed as offensive weapons. Under these circumstances it appears to be about time that parents took a little closer interest in the activities of those of their children who own or can borrow guns. Under no circumstances should the young ones be allowed to consider firearms, even air rifles, as playthings. If they are to be allowed to use them at all, they should be under proper supervision which can inspire in them the respect that a responsible hunter holds for a rifle or similar weapon.

Our British Columbia boys in rural or unorganized territories lose nothing in manliness by not possessing rifles; nor do our youngsters in urban communities who lack air guns. Moreover, if parents fail to impress their children with the necessity of observing the law in respect of juvenile use of such weapons, they have only themselves to blame when the authorities step in with strict punishment against offenders.

HE WAS A NAZI

LATEST ADVICES FROM OTTAWA suggest that Otto Strasser is finding it difficult to obtain a Canadian visa to permit him to return to his native Germany. Were it not for the fact that this "man without a country" gave a good deal of assistance to the late and unlamented Adolf Hitler and his "new order," there might be some objection to the Canadian official attitude toward him. But the simple fact that Otto and his brother Gregor were at one time intimate associates of the former Austrian corporal would seem to us to be sufficient warranty for the authorities at Ottawa to hesitate as they consider this self-styled anti-Nazi's request for permission to go back to his native land—even though he says his main desire is to do a job in German reorganization that would redound to the benefit and prestige of the western democracies.

Strasser's background furnishes no solid reason why he should be permitted to assume the role of a leader. His idea of "German reorganization" is neither new nor novel. It smacks of his attempt to strengthen the appeal of a leaflet containing his name which would seem to revive that aspect of totalitarian philosophy which embraces "Strength Through Joy," and all the rest of the lingo used by Hitler during his harangues to multitudes of Germans who obviously were mesmerized by his ravings.

Strasser and his ilk should be carefully watched. He is no friend of people who believe in all the freedoms with which democracy is associated. The fact that this former Nazi is so anxious to obtain permission to leave this country and return to the remains of the Third Reich of his former Fuehrer would seem to us to be sufficient reason for the hesitancy, or refusal, of the Department of External Affairs to give him clearance.

THE END OF PONZI

NEARLY THIRTY YEARS AGO A MAN named Ponzi, Italian-born, came to the United States. He conceived the idea that he could sell a vast profit-making plan to the people of the neighboring republic. He succeeded. He became known as a "wizard" of finance. His scheme involved the purchase of international postal reply coupons throughout the world at favorable exchange rates. Widows, old maids, young upstarts of both sexes, and even so-called able businessmen, turned their money into Ponzi's coffers. Some of them benefitted by his categorical promise that he would make them a 50 per cent profit on borrowed money in 45 days. But this was a case of "many are called but few are chosen."

So it comes about that we read in a dispatch from Rio de Janeiro that this self-same Italian, born Charles Ponzi—the man who proved that the Barnum dictum was an understatement of human credulity—went to his last rest in a public morgue "unhonored and unsung."

The moral in the story of Ponzi, of course, is that those people who tell the truth and pay their bills are much happier, in the long run, than those who preen themselves in the reflected glory of, to use the colloquialism, "smart alecs."

Industrial Health

By TREVOR I. WILLIAMS from London

DURING THE MONTHS since the introduction of the new National Health Service in Britain a wider interest than ever before has been awakened in every aspect of medicine. Out of all the discussion that has been provoked one big fact emerges—that both doctors and public regard a positively healthy population as the proper aim of the medical services. It is no longer enough that people should not be ill; now the demand is that they should be in health as good as modern medical knowledge and enlightened social conditions can make them.

THIS TREND OF OPINION is underlined by the recent announcement of new members of the committee of experts known as the Industrial Health Research Board which, under the medical Research Council, guides research into every aspect of health in industry. The growth of modern industry has brought with it its own particular medical problems which call for the attention of specialists. These problems also call for teamwork among specialists, medical and non-medical. For it is not only the ordinary factors of bodily and psychological health which are important but such "non-medical" factors as environment in the factory.

The importance attached to industrial health in all its aspects and the determination to relate them together in research and its application are reflected in the eminence of the new members of the board who will serve for the next three years and the variety of interests they represent.

THE CHAIRMAN is Sir Frederic Bartlett, who is Professor of Experimental Psychology at Cambridge. Some of his colleagues are, like himself, distinguished medical experts, from various United Kingdom universities, who have special interests in industrial problems. Besides these, the board includes the managing director of a large motor company, the chairman of a firm of engineers, a senior medical inspector of factories and two trades union representatives.

The medical problems of industry are too numerous for more than a few to be mentioned here. In general, it is not the more spectacular problems which are the most serious. Thus, mechanical injuries from breakage of machinery or inadequate guarding of moving parts, disastrous though they may be for the individual, account for only a very small percentage of time lost through ill health.

FAR MORE SERIOUS in their effect on the efficiency of industry are such trivial ailments as the common cold. From this cause alone millions of working hours are lost in every country because of absence of workers, and as many more are virtually lost because workers, although reporting for duty, are not feeling well enough to do their jobs properly. Because of this, a special medical unit for studying the common cold has been established at Salisbury, England, and already hundreds of volunteers have been there to assist the medical team by acting as "guinea pigs." Although no spectacular cure for colds has come from Salisbury, many new facts have been collected which takes us "a lot nearer" to discovering the cause and cure of this tiresome time waster. Influenza, too, is another serious thief of time and a new centre for its study on an international basis has just been set up in London.

THE WIDESPREAD USE of X-ray equipment, both in hospitals and in factories, has brought its own problems. Recently these problems have been accentuated by a great increase in the amount of work being done with dangerously radio-active substances.

Pneumoconiosis is another disease which particularly affects industrial workers. It is a chronic inflammation of lungs—which often develops later into tuberculosis—afflicting those who work in dusty atmospheres, especially such people as stone masons and coal miners. To study this very serious problem, a medical unit has for some time been carrying out a big program of research at Cardiff, Wales. Other trades have their own particular diseases which are also engaging the attention of research workers, both from the point of view of treatment and of prevention. Thus, those who work with lead—such as painters, plumbers, pottery workers and printers—are liable to contract chronic poisoning from the metal. Hatters may suffer from mercury poisoning, as this metal is used in felt-making. In fact, the English expression "mad as a hatter" refers to the particular nervous symptoms which mercury poisoning can cause.

IN MANY INDUSTRIES, burns are a particular hazard and for this reason—and also because of the heavy danger from fire to which airmen were exposed during the war—a special unit for studying the treatment of burns has been set up at Birmingham and remarkable progress has been made there. Not only has the vital question of reducing loss of life from burns been successfully tackled, but at the same time the question of reducing scarring, which was once an almost certain consequence of severe burns, has been studied—a combination of the practical with the humane approach.

In every part of Britain, special medical problems of industry are being studied, from the coal mines of South Wales to the jute mills of Scotland, from the china-clay workings of Cornwall to the potteries of Staffordshire. Much of the work is done by local units working on the spot, but in London the towering new laboratory of the National Institute for Medical Research, in which a good deal of necessary laboratory work will be done, is a symbol of new enterprise in this field.

'Ps-st! Can't You See They Want To Be Alone?'

The High Cost Of Peace

By JAMES THRASHER from New York

IT IS A PAINFUL sort of wishful thinking to compare the largest peacetime budget in United States history, which the President has presented to Congress, with the budgets of the Twenties and Thirties. It is also pointless. World War II had to be fought and paid for. And the veterans of that war must have care, consideration and compensation as well as gratitude.

FIXED AND NECESSARY

Those two items, interest on the public debt and veterans' services and benefits, account for nearly $11,000,000,000. They are fixed and necessary charges. Also necessary, though perhaps capable of sensible reduction through greater efficiency, are the costs of national defense and international affairs. They amount roughly to $21,000,000,000. Thus more than half the record budget is earmarked for defence.

Maybe it is also wishful thinking to speculate on what the budget would be if postwar Soviet policy had been what all of us hoped and many expected it would be. It might still be big, by 1925 standards. There would be foreign aid, but nothing like the present amount. In a disarming world the United States would spend a small fraction of the present $14,000,000,000 for defence. There would be no budget item of $210,208,875 for atomic weapons.

FOR A BETTER LIFE

By 1925 standards there would be enormous appropriations for health, education, housing, social welfare, the development and conservation of natural and agricultural resources. They would probably amount to considerably more than the 16 per cent that they do in the 1950 budget. But they would be billions spent in quest of a better life in an unfrightened world.

The United States needs social and economic improvements at home today as bulwarks against perils that might imperil its prosperity. It is quite possible that one aim of Soviet policy is to try to promote business and financial crises by making the U.S. overspend on arms and aid against an uncertain future.

But what of the Russian budget? The Soviet government cannot keep us on Uneasy Street unless it keeps up its threat of sudden military action. That means maintaining a big army and air force. It means devoting a substantial part of its industry to production of arms and other war necessities. It means working on atomic weapons.

Russia is undoubtedly doing all this. And it costs billions, whether your economy is communistic or capitalistic, whether you are spending rubles or dollars. In addition, Russia needs social and economic improvements even more than the United States does.

DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR

Russia must spend to catch up with American standards of production and living. It must spend for war to keep the United States spending for defence. A point can come when plans for world conquest are threatened by economic, if not financial, bankruptcy. So perhaps the record budget holds a real promise of peace.

Australian Desert Mystery

Australian News Letter

LOOK at the map and you will see that Australia has a big bump on its back. That is Arnhem Land, a land of mystery!

Strange things are reported from the unknown desert terrain between the coast on the north and the Roper River in the south. The latest chapter is added by Keith Douglas Young, of Darwin, explorer and photographer.

FORBIDDEN CITY

Recently he trekked southward to secure a pictorial record of the "Forbidden City," fashioned by wind and storm from great cliffs of limestone, with battlements, towers, walls, streets and minarets extending over 100 square miles.

The area is known as an age-old corroboree ground of the aborigines, but they fear to enter the city or even discuss it. They say it is the abode of the spirit Booroojin, a "proper cheeky fella," who would eat any human or animal entering the city boundaries.

But Young went there and on his return said: "At night the city glowed with an eerie, luminescent light which I consider to be radio-active in origin. The natives were terrified at this phenomenon, and sat at all times with their backs to it."

RADIO-ACTIVITY?

His photo-electric light meter "acted queerly." It was practically useless while in the city area, but the abnormality disappeared when he left and the meter functioned perfectly from then on.

He took careful note of the surroundings, but could find no iron ore. He believed that the meter was influenced by radio-activity.

"A properly equipped party with Geiger counters and the necessary equipment should visit the area to establish the presence and extent of the radio-active metallic ores," he said. "In the interests of national defence this place should be investigated by expert scientists."

A five-day ride on horseback would be necessary to reach the "city," and, although he was not keen to return, he would accompany any responsible expedition.

HURRIED SURVEY

Mr. Young claimed that the area had never been thoroughly explored. In the early days a survey was made "almost at a gallop because savage aborigines kept white men on the move."

He was willing to turn his cine-color films over to the army for examination. An exploration is likely.

Warning From The Pulpit

WHEREVER I GO I am very concerned to find that the commonest criticism of modern religion is that it seems irrelevant to life," asserts Dr. L. D. Weatherhead, minister of London's City Temple, in his book, "When The Lamp Flickers."

CRITICISMS

The criticisms of cranks can be overlooked. The criticisms which are smoke-screens concealing from themselves the real motives of those who want an excuse for slackness, can be disregarded, but the criticisms of thoughtful men and women must be considered.

"Many such people really do love God and their neighbors and they believe in religion, but the services of the churches leave them cold, and many of the week-night activities seem little removed from those of a club. Indeed, many say that they find better fellowship in the club for there is less gossip, less little-tattle, less meanness, less bitterness and fewer hurt feelings over trifles."

Tread Softly

Montreal Star
There is some pressure in Canada just now for us to write off the British market, and to concentrate upon a wider and wider interchange of goods with the United States. Advocates of such a policy may well be regarded as the isolationists of the coming decade. It is a policy which may be forced upon us. To go out now looking for it is to burn bridges which can be usefully kept intact.

"The commonest criticism that I hear of sermons is that they do not deal with the problems ordinary men and women are facing, that they talk a language remote from everyday living, that much of the sermon time is given to Biblical and theological problems which do not seem to bear upon life at all, and that the language used is often a preacher's jargon which means little to the layman."

INDICTMENT

"In a word, that religion is not apparently related to life, and that is a damning indictment. If ever religion comes to be thought of as something remote from everyday life, we shall never be able to make the new world about which we have spoken much, thought a little and prayed occasionally."

THE Indonesian crisis has resolved itself into an unprofitable quarrel in which the Netherlands is the focus of action not only by the United Nations but by a great conference of Asiatic countries in New Delhi.

As things stand, the Security Council of the United Nations faces possible loss of prestige because of a rebuff by the Netherlands. On top of that the imbroglio threatens to widen the gap which already existed between the western world and the East.

It is an altogether nasty situation and one which could have far-reaching consequences.

The core of this trouble of course is the strife between the Netherlands and the revolutionary Republic of Indonesia.

SEEKING SOLUTION

India has called a conference of Asiatic states which is opening in New Delhi today. Prime Minister Nehru, who fathered this parley, aims at getting a solution of the Indonesian strife.

The Security Council likely will be called on to consider an American plan for settlement of the Indonesian problem. This calls for establishment of a sovereign United States of Indonesia by April 1, 1950. It envisages creation of an interim federal government not later than March 15, 1949, and withdrawal of Dutch troops prior to establishment of the new federation.

The Netherlands has rejected this, although she already has announced a somewhat similar project.

WHY REJECTION?

Why do the Dutch authorities reject this United States plan as "unparalleled interference?"

Informed circles tell me that they feel that American project implies distrust of Holland's intentions. The Dutch authorities are annoyed at the implication, it is said, rather than at the terms of the proposal.

Well, that seems to split hairs, but one can see the Dutch argument.

That leaves the argument to be settled by developments.

UNIONIST

Ottawa Journal
Few doubt any more that the field of radio is almost wholly entertainment. In its early days it was hailed as a great cultural force, but it is clear now that the masses of the people do not seek to improve their minds by wireless any more than through the movies. The broadcasting industry, content with what it was giving so long as the money rolled in, now has to bestir itself in the face of growing competition. It needs to develop more variety, better technique, perhaps new stars, and certainly more skill and discretion with the "commercials" that pay the shot.

WATERFRONT PICTURE

Montreal Gazette
With the exception of a new shed the harbor authorities are building in the lee of Jacques Cartier Bridge, Montreal's waterfront has changed little in the last 20 years, except to grow more drab and dingy. Shining silver spires atop Bonsecours Church contrast strongly with the rusty steel roofs of the cargo sheds and the pock-marked quays of Market Basin, while the humpback paving of Commissioners Street—the port's busiest thoroughfare—each season exacts a heavy toll from truck springs and auto tires.

But if Montreal harbor's buildings and jetties grow more tired-looking with the years, the waterfront grog shops do not. Resplendent in flamboyant neon signs and chrome-plated bars, Joe Beefe's and the Neptune do a land-office business with seafaring men and from April on their cash registers ring a crisp and merry tune.

'Teddy' Roosevelt's Inaugural Wildest

By S. BURTON HEATH

The most dramatic inaugurations in American presidential history weren't inaugurations at all. They were substitutions.

Plan, spend, work and try as they have, no inaugural committee ever has been able to achieve the drama that circumstance gave to the swearings-in of Teddy Roosevelt and Calvin Coolidge.

The homely story of Justice of the Peace John Coolidge, administering the oath to his only son by kerosene light in the kitchen of a Vermont mountain farmhouse, has been told too often to need repeating.

Less well-known today is the spectacular dash that Rough Rider Roosevelt made from an Adirondack mountain top to Buffalo to assume the presidency.

William McKinley was shot Sept. 6, 1901. His vice-president dashed from a fish and game club outing at Isle La Motte, in Lake Champlain, to Burlington, Vt., where he caught a special train to Buffalo. By Sept. 10 he was assured the President was out of danger. So he trekked back to the Tahawus Club, in the mountains 50 miles from the nearest railroad.

MOUNTAIN CLIMBING

Three days later it became apparent the President would die. A courier from Albany rushed to the club. Roosevelt was out mountain climbing. The courier started up, and met the Vice-President coming down. They dashed to the foot of the trail, climbed into a horse-drawn buckboard, and headed for a waiting special train. At 2.15 the next morning, while their vehicle still was careening along country roads, Roosevelt became President. But it was 1.30 the next afternoon before he took the oath in the dust-covered shrouded library of his friend, Ansley Wilcox.

Three years later T. R. was elected in his own right. His actual inaugural, March 4, 1905, shares honors with Abraham Lincoln's first—and maybe with Andrew Jackson's—for sensationalism.

A week before the big day, Teddy's Rough Riders breezed into Washington—cowboy outfits, ponies, lariats and revolvers. They entered up and down Pennsylvania Avenue, tethered their ponies to lamp posts while they tried to drink the pubs dry, yipped and idly, lassoed Negroes, had a swell time.

Harry S. Truman's first oath of office as President was taken in this quiet White House ceremony conducted by the then Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone. Although his inauguration will be far more elaborate, as far as drama goes such "substitutions" have eclipsed the pomp of actual inaugurations in American history.

LASSED SPECTATOR

They provided a guard of honor, from whose midst T. R. stepped to take the oath at the Capitol. They had a well-lubricated detachment in the parade, for which the new President kept asking and watching until it arrived. One exuberant member lassoed a spectator right in front of the reviewing stand, and dragged him into the street.

The drama of Lincoln's first inauguration arose from fear that he would be assassinated. Warnings had come that there was a plot to kill him as he passed through Baltimore. He was sneaked aboard a special train at Harrisburg.

On inauguration day, President Buchanan met Lincoln at Willard's Hotel, and they rode together to the Capitol. The carriage was guarded "so thickly as to hide it from view," one newspaper reported. Along the route were soldiers by the platoon, with mounted orderlies at all intersections and riflemen on the rooftops.

'FLYING' ARTILLERY

The outgoing and incoming Presidents entered the Capitol through a covered tunnel-like walk, guarded by platoons of soldiers. There were squads of riflemen in each wing of the Capitol, and 50 or 60 under the inaugural platform. General Scott stood by with two batteries of "flying" artillery.

Andrew Jackson's inauguration in 1829 marked the rise of the common man to political power. The President-elect walked through the mud of Pennsylvania Avenue to the Capitol, accompanied only by a few personal friends, and took the oath. Then he pushed his own way through a mob of spectators and rode to the White House at the head of an informal procession of carriages, farm wagons and miscellaneous vehicles.

The Executive Mansion was thrown open to everybody. Men, women and boys thronged in, stood with muddy feet on the silk-covered chairs and sofas, fought for refreshments, ground broken glass and chinaware into the floors.

WENT OUT WINDOW

The President made his escape through a window. The guests were enticed outside by the simple expedient of putting several tubs of high-powered punch on the lawn.

"It would have done Mr. Wilberforce's heart good," said one spectator, "to have seen a stout black wench eating in this free country a jelly with a gold spoon in the President's house."

George Washington's first inaugural was delayed until April 30 because, two weeks after Congress was due to meet, neither House could get a quorum. It was April 3 before enough legislators traveled the bad roads to New York to count the electoral votes that made Washington President and John Adams Vice-President. Then couriers had to ride to Mt. Vernon and to Baintree, Mass., to notify them, and Washington and Adams had to ride back to New York to be sworn in on Wall Street.

A meeting of boys between the ages of nine and 13 will be held on Saturday at 2, for the purpose of forming a boy's orchestra. The meeting will be held at 2701 Asquith Street, at the home of

Russia Increases Trade With Foreign Countries In 1949
MOSCOW (AP)—Russia is increasing her trade with foreign countries.
The latest agreement stepping up the exchange of goods is a Soviet-Bulgarian. Fact signed Tuesday and made public Wednesday. Under it, Russian-Bulgarian trade will be increased 20 per cent this year compared with 1948.
Other recent agreements call for increasing trade with Poland in 1949 by 35 per cent and with Czechoslovakia by more than 45 per cent.
A Romanian trade delegation now is in Moscow and talks are said to be progressing satisfactorily. An increase in trade with Romania also is expected.
An agreement reached with Hungary late last year calls for "trading" trade between the two countries.
Informed sources here predict a number of trade delegations from foreign countries will come to Moscow this year. Denmark is supposed to be sending a group within a few months. Others who may come are Britain, the Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg and Iceland.
The Soviet reached a number of important agreements last year.
FACT WITH ITALY
An agreement with Italy in December calling for a large volume of trade was one of the Soviet's biggest deals. Russia also reached what were described as "satisfactory" arrangements with Norway and Finland. Earlier in the year a four-year agreement was reached with Switzerland, the first pact of this kind between the two countries.
Only with Yugoslavia has business decreased recently. Russia says this is because of the "unfriendly attitude" of Premier Tito's regime.
Russia has a long-term trade agreement with Sweden and there may be some new activity on it this year.
A French trade delegation was expected here last year, but the project collapsed after France had expelled some Soviet citizens.

Sgt. B. Douglass Completes Course On Traffic In East
Sgt. Brooke Douglass of the city police force is scheduled to arrive back home Sunday after completing a six-month course at the Traffic Institute of Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., Inspector John Blackstock reported today.
Certificates of graduation were awarded the 27 police officers completing the course on Tuesday by director Frank M. Kreml.
Sgt. Douglass attended the institute's traffic administration course through funds provided by the Victoria Board of Police Commissioners and a cash award from the Kemper Foundation for Traffic Safety, Chicago, Ill.
The comprehensive course, rated as the best in the world, dealt with traffic control, entailed over 600 hours of classroom study, work projects, demonstrations and a one-week field study trip.
Sgt. Douglass is the local officer who got the Kiwanis Club junior traffic safety patrols into operation throughout the city last year. The scheme is regarded as a fine move to safeguard students crossing the path of vehicular traffic going to and coming from schools. Patrols are made up of the students.
Constable Ian Duncan has been in charge of the patrol plan in the absence of Sgt. Douglass.
The police commission hopes Sgt. Douglass will bring back some valuable ideas from the course which will be helpful in solving the many traffic problems facing the city at the present time.
Draft Labor Code In Quebec Would Ban Communists
QUEBEC (CP)—The Quebec government introduced Wednesday at the start of the provincial Legislature session a draft labor code which would ban Communists and sponsors of subversive doctrines from executive positions in labor unions in the province.
The 79-page provincial labor code which would group seven existing pieces of labor legislation in one was among 27 bills distributed to Quebec Legislative Assembly members at their first sitting in 1949.
It has been described as "simply a draft" in which the

Soft Wheat Of New Type Recommended For This Island

OTTAWA (CP)—Cascade, a newly-developed soft spring wheat resistant to disease, is making a hit with farmers in soft-wheat growing areas of Canada.

The experimental farm here reported Wednesday the reaction of farmers who sowed the new variety in the spring of 1948 in Ontario and Quebec, the Maritimes and British Columbia. The grain is not suitable for the hard-wheat growing regions of the prairies.

The new variety is a white, semi-hard beardless wheat of excellent yielding ability. It is highly resistant to stem rust, loose smut and mildew. It has fine quality for household use for bread and pastry.

Farmers who used the wheat reported yields varying all the way from six to 40 bushels, with an average of 23.7 bushels an acre. The poor yields were generally attributed to dry weather after seeding and again just before harvest.

A few growers reported unfavorable weather had prevented seeding at the proper time. However, all appeared to be sufficiently satisfied to sow it again this year and only 400 bushels were reported for sale. The farm is making plans to have ample supplies available by 1950.

The variety is recommended for eastern Canada and Vancouver Island, where it has given high yields wherever tested.

Refuse Arena Grant

A request from the City of Victoria for a grant to aid in construction of the Memorial Arena was turned down Wednesday evening by Oak Bay Council.

The Icelandic language is the most northerly of all cultivated tongues and contains 33 letters in the alphabet.

Oak Bay Meets Legion Delegates On Housing Scheme For Veterans

With the large area of the Willows Fairgrounds coming under the ownership of Oak Bay municipality, possible inauguration of a veterans' housing scheme seems considerably more hopeful than it did in 1948 when Oak Bay owned far below the minimum number of lots to set up the building project.

This became apparent Wednesday evening when a Canadian Legion Victoria and district zone council delegation, headed by Col. R. B. Longridge, zone council secretary, submitted a brief to a committee of the whole council seeking permission for construction of veterans' houses under the the Dominion government's Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Arrangements for the meeting between the delegation and the municipal council were begun shortly after Oak Bay announced completion of negotiations for purchase of the Willows.

In speaking to the council, Col. Longridge said the Legion appreciated that in the past Oak Bay had been faced with insufficient lots and with building regulations which prevented any arrangements being made with Central Mortgage and Housing.

However, he added, "we hope now that with the acquisition of the Willows ground the first of these difficulties has disappeared, and that the second difficulty

'Fortunate Year,' Says Health Officer

"An unusually fortunate year," was the summarization of the health report for 1948 submitted by Dr. W. P. Walker, Oak Bay medical health officer, to the municipal council Wednesday evening.

No cases of diphtheria, smallpox, typhoid, dysentery, erysipelas or cerebro-spinal meningitis were notified during the year. Two mild cases of poliomyelitis, one case of undulant fever and another of glandular fever were reported.

In addition there were 11 cases of scarlet fever of a mild type or "suspect," nine cases of septic sore throat, nine cases of mumps, 15 of rubella and 40 of chickenpox.

Dr. Walker noted a satisfactory and considerable increase in attendance at the Oak Bay baby clinic following a disappointing beginning when the clinic was first started in April last year.

Seek Oak Bay Grant For More Publicity

Bureau Wednesday evening asked Oak Bay council for a 1949 grant to aid the bureau in carrying on its publicity work.

W. J. Clark, bureau president, wrote a letter to the council reminding it that all residents of Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt employed in Victoria derived direct or indirect benefit from the tourist industry.

A. D. Findlay, municipal clerk, told the council that Oak Bay has been making an annual grant of $500, but added that examination of the 1947 annual statement of the bureau enclosed by Mr. Clark showed that neither Saanich nor Esquimalt made any grant.

The bureau's request was requested was referred to the estimates committee.

Of the 1949 total assessment roll, there were totals of $3,368,210 for land and $12,386,690 for improvements, as compared with $3,312,140 for land and $11,662,000 for improvements in 1948.

Real Estate Men Discuss Appraisals

Importance of sound appraisals was stressed by J. D. O'Toole at the luncheon meeting of the Victoria Real Estate Board Wednesday at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. O'Toole considered there was no good reason why proper appraisers should not come close to one another in determining the value of property. In appraising a house, he said, there should never be a difference greater than $500 between the values set by two different realtors.

It was suggested a standard method of determining property value be devised and used by all real estate offices in the city.

Vivian Bagshaw suggested a class should be started by the Real Estate Board to teach new salesmen how to go about appraising a house.

The Fishing Industry is Everybody's Business

Market value of British Columbia's fish catch in 1947 was $58,250,000.

Third on the list of our great natural resources, the industry employs around 20,000 people. When the catch is plentiful, when markets are receptive and prices good, practically everyone in the province stands to benefit, directly or indirectly.

This Company, with its great chain of fishing stations and processing plants, its widespread marketing organization at home and abroad, contributes importantly to the steady and increasing flow of trade that means prosperity to all our people.

Spring Styles Gay, Form-Fitting

MONTREAL (CP)—Come spring there'll be flare cuffs, draw-string necklines, under-sleeves, flounced silhouettes and flying-panel skirts for the ladies.

Montreal fashion experts said the styles will be gay, form-fitting and buoyant.

The detail: Shoulders—Lightly padded. Both daytime and after-five dresses show the top-seamed sleeve. Late spring clothes will have underslung sleeves that drape softly to the waist.

Sleeves—Soft in suits, often ending in a huge flaring cuff. Early summer dresses show a gathered or shirred sleeve tightening in to a below-the-elbow straight cuff.

Necklines—The draw-string and gathered neckline is featured in stiff taffetas and sheer wools. U-shaped lines are seen only in evening or after-five dresses. Scallop, shirring, binding and ruching are all important, whether in suits, coats or dresses. Waists—Small and neat wide-boned belts and wide sashes that wrap the waists are prevalent. They mould or follow figure lines.

Bustlines—Definitely higher than ever before. The new suits demand better-fitted, more pliable foundation garments.

Skirts—from 11 to 14 inches from the ground, high fashion favoring "the 11-inch measurement. There are peg-top skirts in rayon and taffeta and crepe dresses. The flying buttress or side panel has been introduced into the dressy-type frock. It is topped with a neat waist, a straight waist-to-shoulder bodice.

Family Necklace For Bride

A lovely old pearl necklace worn by her maternal grandmother graced the soft blue gabardine suit worn by Miss Ethel Mary Williams when she became the bride of Thomas Laberge, Saturday afternoon at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Rev. J. L. W. McLean heard the marriage vows of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Williams, 2638 Shelbourne Street, and son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Laberge, Sooke.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her black accessories matched her smart model hat, and her corsage bouquet was of pink and white carnations.

Later for traveling she donned a light blue wool topcoat over her ensemble.

Her sister, Miss Betty Joyce Williams was bridesmaid. With her suit of pale green she wore black accessories and pink and white carnations en corsage.

The groom's brother, Lawrence Laberge, was best man.

Mrs. Williams, wearing a silver-grey ensemble, and Mrs. Laberge whose smart tailleur was of pale grey, assisted the couple in receiving guests at a reception at North Ward Hall. After greeting their friends the newlyweds cut their three-tier wedding cake.

Following their honeymoon in Vancouver and Seattle, the couple will return to the city to make their home.

Royal Bride Chapter, I.O.E., meeting Thursday at 8, at home of Miss Bernice Edmondson, 1111 Oscar Street.

Welcome New Members At University Club

Five new members, Mrs. W. G. Hughes, Miss P. Forcier, Miss M. Mickie, Miss A. Snape and Mrs. A. Chard, were welcomed at the meeting of the University Women's Club, held Wednesday evening.

Mrs. K. O. Wright presided and Denis Brown, Department of Education, spoke to the meeting on "Audio-Visual Aids in Education."

Modern trends in education stress the value of visual aids, Mr. Brown explained, as films, slides, pictures and models. "Today's school child," he said, "learns the complex structure of the eye or ear from a large sectional model; he views a miniature museum in his own school; he visits local industries, or sees, parliament in session."

"All material for this, including arrangements for transportation on school journeys, is assembled and distributed by audio-visual department."

Announcement was made of the "March of Books" campaign under Unesco, calling for donations of books, chiefly technical, and classical fiction, donations to be left at the Cornovant Street Firehall. It was also announced that the club is sponsoring an evening of the play "Quiet Weekend," produced by the Victoria Little Theatre.

Women At Work

MRS. DORA BRISTOL

Bubbling over with enthusiasm for a "fascinating job with wonderful people" is fair-haired, blue-eyed Mrs. Dora Bristol, driver for the Alert Service Transfer Co.

One of the company's most valued and reliable drivers, she has been with them since the summer of 1942.

An article published in the Victoria Daily Times about one of the first women delivery drivers gave the idea to Mrs. Bristol.

"Why, that's just the type of job I'd like to do," she thought, and immediately applied for a similar position.

The trim young woman, with cheeks glowing brightly from the outdoor life, enjoys every minute of her work—from her daily delivery rounds to the servicing and polishing of her sturdy truck that carries her on daily adventures.

A quick smile plays across her pleasant features as she tells you "It's a privilege to work with this company and to deliver parcel post, because everybody is nice to me."

Words spring forth eagerly as she describes her morning rounds to the Uplands, Ten Mile Point and Mt. Tolmie areas, where she delivers postmen's relay bundles and parcel post.

"One of the most wonderful things about this work," she chuckles, "is that people know I have a parcel for them and they're always glad to see me."

Former Victorians In Long Beach Bridal Party

Of interest to their many friends in Victoria is the announcement of the marriage in Long Beach, Calif., on Jan. 8, of Miss Lila Helen Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Stanley Martin, formerly of this city, and Wayne Dean. The double-ring service was performed by candlelight at Community Presbyterian Church, by Rev. W. W. Greenlee.

The bride, niece of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Pomeroy, 469 Admirals Road, and granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel L. Beaton, also of this city, was given in marriage by her father.

She chose accessories to match her palamino gabardine suit and carried a prayer book mounted with a white orchid.

Her attendant was Mrs. Carl Martin who wore a cocoa brown silk gown and carried Talisman roses. The groom was attended by Tommy Thompson.

A former Victorian, Bert Hines, now making his home in Santa Monica, sang "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly."

Reception for 100 guests was held at the Martin home, where a three-tier cake encircled with fragrant gardenias, centred the table.

The couple spent their honeymoon in Mexico and have returned to make their home at 2701 San Francisco Street, Long Beach, where the groom is attending Long Beach City College.

Madeleine Carroll At Odeon Theatre

Madeleine Carroll, star of United Artists' "Don't Trust Your Husband," now at the Odeon Theatre, has a new purpose in life.

"My husband and I want to divide our time, half of it to the necessary business of earning our living and the rest to doing what we can to bring about a better understanding among the peoples of the world," she said.

"We shall go into France, into Italy, into Scandinavia, Czechoslovakia, the Balkans—yes, into Russia too if they'll let us—and our mission will be to sow the seeds of friendship. The common people of the world must be shown that they really are, and in the truest sense, brothers and sisters under the skin."

"That, I think, is a full-time job. That is the job that my husband and I are tackling—and I wish we were a brigade instead of only two."

Truman Mimics Style Of H. V. Kaltenborn

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman in a dinner speech Wednesday night mimicked the style of radio commentator H. V. Kaltenborn.

He satirized Kaltenborn's election-night broadcast in which the radio commentator forecast a Republican victory on the basis of midnight returns.

With smiling sarcasm, Truman gave a remarkable exhibition of Kaltenborn's style while the audience roared with laughter.

Dumas' Adventurous Favorite On Screen

With Lana Turner, Gene Kelly, June Allyson Van Heflin and Angela Lansbury at the head of one of M-G-M's biggest "name" casts "The Three Musketeers" opened today at the Royal Theatre to present a breathtaking pageantry of Technicolor spectacle, fiery romance and dare-devil adventure.

Here are the ingredients of this best-selling novel, dashing heroes, beautiful women, explosive drama and thrilling suspense in Alexandre Dumas' unforgettable story of the adventurous musketeers whose motto was "One For All And All For One!"

Myrna Loy Is Color Specialist In Film

Myrna Loy, as Mrs. Blandings in RKO's comedy, "Mr. Blandings Builds His Dream House," which the Selznick Releasing Organization opened today at the Atlas Theatre, is determined to get the authentic Early American colors she wants in her new home, including: yellow in the dining-room which matches the grocery store's best grade of butter; light robin's egg blue in the stair hall that matches a tiny dot in the wall paper; and red in the powder room which matches a minute piece of silk thread she's been carrying around in her pocket.

Jan Peerce To Sing Here On Eighth Tour

—coming to Victoria

Jan Peerce, America's top tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will be heard at the Royal Theatre on Wednesday, Feb. 2, in the course of his eighth national concert tour arranged by impresario S. Hurok. He will be presented locally by Hilker Attractions.

The singer who recently celebrated his fifth anniversary with the Metropolitan, began an active summer schedule in June when he appeared before Hollywood cameras on the Universal lot where his latest motion picture "Something in the Wind" starring Deanna Durbin was being filmed. This was his first experience on a west coast movie set. Peerce's two previous films, "Carnegie Hall" and "Hymn of Nations" with Arturo Toscanini, were shot in New York.

Tickets for Jan Peerce's one appearance are now on sale at Fletcher's Music Store.

'Cheyenne' Showing At York Theatre

Dennis Morgan, Jane Wyman, Janis Paige and Bruce Bennett portray the leading roles in Warner Bros' romantic outdoor drama of old Wyoming, "Cheyenne," which opens at the York Theatre today.

Other prominent players in the new adventure film include Alan Hale, Arthur Kennedy, John Ridgely, Barton MacLane, Tom Tyler and Bob Steele. The screen-play was written by Alan LeMay and Thomas Williamson from a story by Paul I. Wellman. Raoul Walsh directed "Cheyenne" and Robert Buckner produced for the company.

CAPITOL THEATRE
The individual mannerisms of Monty Woolley and Barry Fitzgerald stand out hilariously in Paramount's latest laugh-riot, "Miss Tatlock's Millions," now showing at the Capitol Theatre. The caustic tongue and biting humor that characterizes Woolley is thrown into hilarious relief by the more amiable comic, Fitzgerald.

Co-starring with John Lund and Wanda Hendrix Woolley and Fitzgerald represent the cause and effect of all the difficulties which ensue when the Tatlock millions are inadvertently bequeathed to a dim-wit heir.

Old Tucson Comes To Life In Film

Old Tucson, replica of the adobe city as it was in 1860, and built in 1939 by Columbia for "Arizona," came to life again.

The 130-building set, which includes a mission, stage depot, general store, cantinas, saloons, cafes, candlemakers' shops, Mexican homes and Indian hogans, was used again in "The Last Round-Up," thrill-filled Columbia Western, now playing at the Plaza Theatre with Gene Autry and his famous horse, Champion.

Located in Tucson Mountain Park, 14 miles east of Tucson, Arizona, the adobe town of 11 streets, although unused since "Arizona," needed very little repairing by the Columbia construction crew.

Bing Crosby Sings Four New Song Hits

Paramount's "Welcome Stranger," opening today at the Oak Bay Theatre with Bing Crosby, Joan Caulfield and Barry Fitzgerald co-starred, introduces four brand new song hits from the top tunesmith team of Johnny Burke and Jimmy Van Heusen.

The new numbers are "My Heart is a Hobo," in which Bing is joined by Barry Fitzgerald during a fishing sequence, "As Long as I'm Dreaming," "Smile

Right Back at the Sun" and "Country Style," a rollicking square dance tune with which Bing endears himself to a small, unfriendly town.

Russia To Force Showdown With Tito

By LEON DENNEN
Victoria Times Special Correspondent

ROME—Italian labor circles in close contact with the Yugoslav situation fear that the seething Balkan powderkeg is about to explode again.

A Soviet-engineered coup d'etat against the "Red Rebel," Marshal Tito, is imminent, they believe, and both sides are marshaling troops and secret police for the showdown.

The "Tito threat" was the subject of prolonged discussion at a special meeting of the Cominform held recently at Sofia after the Bulgarian Communist Congress. Among those present, in addition to representatives from the Communist parties of Great Britain, France, Italy and the satellite countries, were the Russian Secretary of the Cominform, Yudin, as well as the Soviet Gen. Sidor Artemovich Kovpak and the leader of the anti-Tito faction in Trieste, Vittorio Vidali.

Kovpak, 56-year-old partisan fighter and military confidant of Stalin, is an old hand at Balkan fighting.

MOSCOW AGENT

Vidali, under the alias of Sormenti, was active during the last war as Moscow's agent in the "Red Rebel" Tito: He has burned his bridges behind him.

United States and Mexico. He is said to have been the man who engineered the assassinations of Leon Trotsky and Carlo Tresca. Vidali is a bitter personal foe of Tito.

Immediately after the Sofia meeting, Cominform agents increased their pressure to upset the Tito regime from within. At the same time, Hungarian and Bulgarian troops, augmented by pro-Cominform Yugoslav deserters and Macedonian Irredentists, were held in readiness on the Yugoslav frontiers while General Kovpak, their commander-in-chief, went to Albania to participate in a large-scale purge of pro-Tito Communists.

Count Carlo Sforza, Italian Foreign Minister, recently accused Bulgaria and Hungary of violating the peace treaty limitations for their armed forces. Despite official satellite denials, observers arriving in Rome from Sofia report increased Bulgarian troop activity on the Yugoslav border. Likewise, the Hungarian border with Yugoslavia is now being reinforced with substantial numbers of regular and N.K.V.D. troops under Soviet officers.

BURNED BRIDGES

Reports from Yugoslavia indicate Tito is preparing to meet the attack. The purge of pro-Cominform elements in Yugoslavia exceeds even that of the satellite countries. An ex-Soviet agent himself, Tito, in the view of persons who have recently been in personal contact with him, will not be caught off-guard. After a brief period of hesitation he now realizes that as far as the Kremlin is concerned he has burned all his bridges behind him.

Tito is now gently preparing his followers not only for a political but also for a complete ideological break with Stalinism. As yet, to be sure, he has shown no sign that he wishes to be reconciled with the "capitalist" West. However, he has been making overtures to Italian socialists, whom he hitherto regarded as the "agents of capitalist imperialism."

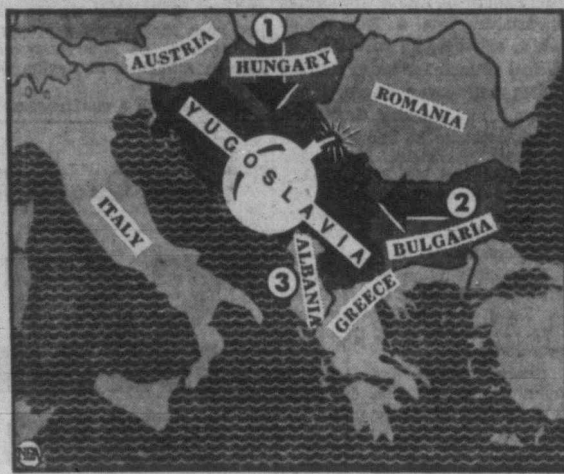

A broad hint that Tito may use the Marxist but violently anti-Communist Social Democrats as a back door to the West was contained in his New Year's broadcast to the people of Yugoslavia in which he derided the political theory that "the end justifies the means."

"Great things," he said, "can never be built by foul means and in a dishonest way."

Although new for Tito, this theory has been preached by Social Democrats ever since the Bolsheviks seized power in Russia by violence and represents a sharp break with orthodox Leninist-Stalinist thinking.

LEARN HARD WAY

A leading Italian Socialist familiar with Yugoslav events told this correspondent: "Tito, like all fanatical Communists, must learn the hard way. His conver-

"Red Rebel" battleground: The fuse of a Cominform-Tito showdown sputters inside Yugoslavia as Red agents try to upset Tito from within. On the frontiers, Hungarian and Bulgarian troops (1 and 2) have been reinforced and pro-Tito Communists are being purged in Albania (3) by Soviet ax-man General Kovpak.

sion to Social Democracy will not resurrect the thousands of men and women he destroyed ruthlessly in the name of the theory which he now deplores. Nevertheless, the fact that, on the surface at least, he now rejects violence represents a significant step forward."

The quarrel between Tito and Stalin has its humorous side. Shortly before his break with the Cominform, Tito signed a contract with Czechoslovakia for coke. After the break, the Czechs refused to deliver. After prolonged negotiations, the Czechs, beset by their own economic troubles, consented to ship the coke to Yugoslavia—at prices double those originally asked. Tito's agents approached the Geneva office of the European Economic Mission of the United

Schmidt Mirror May Be Used For Cancer Detection

BALTIMORE (AP)—Astronomy's seeing-eye telescope, the Schmidt Mirror, now has been trained on man and one of his afflictions.

The Schmidt Mirror sees a wide area of the sky in a single photo, and this principle may make mass examinations for detection of stomach cancer possible.

Large-scale tests employing the device in a process called photo fluorography are under way at the Johns Hopkins Hospital here under auspices of the United States Public Health Service.

Physicians are hoping to approach what chest X-rays accomplish in the fight on tuberculosis.

The undertaking at Johns Hopkins is the first of its kind for stomach cancer. It is under direction of Drs. Robert Sloan, John Roach and Russel Morgan.

Mass examinations would be a vital factor in combating stomach cancer.

Nations which immediately supplied Yugoslavia with coke from Belgium and the Ruhr at one-third the price demanded by Czechoslovakia. The Czechs then accused the European Economic Mission of "sharp capitalist practices."

B.C. SOUND

FACTS FOR YOU...

WHY SASKATCHEWAN AUTO INSURANCE RATES CANNOT APPLY IN B.C.

IN SASKATCHEWAN

1. FLAT, BARE COUNTRY

Saskatchewan has no mountains and comparatively few hills. Flat, level highways, few sharp turns and blind corners give ample vision for safer driving.

2. WINTER LAY-UP

Due to extreme climate, many cars are frequently laid-up from November to April. Only 2% of Saskatchewan roads are kept open throughout the winter.

3. SCATTERED RURAL POPULATION

Saskatchewan's population, scattered throughout the Province, is 79% rural, with few cities of any size (Regina population 50,000). This eliminates nearly all heavy traffic concentrations.

4. LIMITED INDEMNITIES

Government insurance in Saskatchewan has a schedule of indemnities governing claims. For example: a woman with a leg amputated would receive $1350 plus $75.00 ($12.50 a week for 6 weeks) plus supplementary allowance of $175.00 (maximum). A total of $1,600.00.

IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

1. MOUNTAINOUS COUNTRY

Highways through mountainous country, with many curves, bridges and steep grades expose motorists to repeated risks of accidents.

2. YEAR-ROUND DRIVING

Cars are driven every month in the year in most parts of B.C. Our winter driving conditions—fog, icy, slushy roads—add hazards to this heavy year-round traffic.

3. DENSITY OF TRAFFIC

Only 47% of B.C.'s population is rural. In Vancouver (Canada's third largest city) alone there are 1381 vehicles per square mile. B.C. has nearly 10 times more tourist automobiles than Saskatchewan. Traffic concentrations increase accidents.

4. PAYMENT ACCORDING TO LOSS AND CIVIL RIGHTS

Common law and civil rights govern claim payments. A woman, with leg amputated, who was only 40% to blame, received $6,790.50 and her husband $2,175.45. (Figures taken from case records).

INSURANCE COMPANIES IN B.C. PAID OUT $3,265,000. IN CLAIMS DURING 1947. ON THIS BASIS, IF THE SASKATCHEWAN PREMIUM OF $6.00 PER CAR APPLIED HERE AS A GOVERNMENT RATE, THE DIFFERENCE OF OVER $2,000,000. WOULD HAVE TO BE RAISED OUT OF GOVERNMENT FUNDS. WOULD YOU BE IN FAVOUR OF THIS INCREASED TAXATION?

THERE IS NO COMPARISON

It is to your benefit and ours when you know the facts about automobile insurance. That's why they are given to you here by the British Columbia Insurance Committee.

Racial Background Makes No Difference

Victoria High School students pictured above are descended from various nationalities and can speak 13 languages besides English. To their classmates, though, they are not considered unusual, for this is one school where the principles of democracy are practiced as well as taught.

Victoria High School has become something of a miniature United Nations General Assembly.

One gets this impression just by looking over the registration file in the school office for presently enrolled are students from all parts of the world.

All speak English, but many speak other languages besides. One youth, who recently immigrated here from Europe, speaks four languages and all of them fluently.

Altogether the students can account for 13 foreign tongues. These are:

Afrikaans, Chinese, Esperanto, Estonian, German, Greek, Polish, Portuguese, Punjabi, Spanish, Swahili, Swedish and Ukrainian. In the case of one or two students, it is easier to lapse into one of these languages than to speak English for them the "foreign talk" is the "native" tongue.

Most of the bilingual students, however, learned their two languages by being brought up in an English-speaking home in a non-English-speaking country.

Still others were born and raised in Victoria and were taught their "other" language by their parents.

U.N. ATMOSPHERE

Here are some of the students who give the school its U.N. atmosphere:

Brian Bishop—Brian arrived in Victoria just three weeks ago. His parents are English, but he has lived most of his life in Buenos Aires, Argentina, where he attended a Scottish school in which Spanish was spoken during morning classes and English, during the afternoon.

Pam Scratchley—Pam came to Victoria last August from Havana, Cuba, where Spanish is the spoken language. Her father holds a post there with the United Railway. Pam and her mother are trying to decide if Victoria will be a good place to settle down in when Mr. Scratchley retires.

Helen Morris—Helen has been in Canada one year. She was born in England and lived there until 1946 when her parents moved to Chile. She learned to speak Spanish while there.

Michael Dixon-Nuttall—Michael arrived in Victoria last May from Hastings, Sussex. He says he finds Victoria to be rather quiet compared to Hastings.

LEARNED QUICKLY

Siegfried Marks—Siegfried has been here three months. He was born in Poland. He speaks Polish, German and Esperanto. He knew only a little English when he first arrived but has learned the language quickly. He says Victoria is much better than Europe and the people here are more friendly.

Elven Chuhaywich—Elven was born in Canada of Polish parents. He understands Polish well, but admits having a little trouble speaking it.

Anna Lee, Loreita Leong and Corinne Quan are three of about 60 students of Chinese origin who attend the school. All three are native Victorians who learned Chinese from their parents.

Andu Lauba—Andu was born in Estonia. He speaks Estonian, Portuguese and Swedish. He has not been in Canada very long, but thinks it is "very nice."

David Miller—David was born in India, raised in England and sent to Kenya, East Africa, during the war. It was during his stay in Kenya that he learned to speak Swahili, tongue of the natives there.

Will Finlayson—Will is from Scotland and has been in Victoria since last June. He finds the school system here very different from "at home." For one thing, teachers here are not so strict.

Basso Sardani Sundher, Terry Sadar Sundher, Jagat Sadarni Basi and Sohan Singh were all born in Victoria, but can speak Punjabi as well as English through instruction given them by their parents.

TAUGHT BY PARENTS

George Essihos was born here also and was taught Greek by his parents who were born in that country.

Florence Bereznay was born in Canada also and learned to speak Ukrainian from her parents.

Shirley Waite is the only American at present attending the school. Recently from California, her marks are said to be excellent.

Norman Alexander was born in Victoria and has lived all his life here. His ancient forefathers came from Africa. Norm is one of the leading sports figures at the schools. He plays rugby and soccer and is a member of the swimming team.

After talking with these young people in one of the school classrooms and learning of their ancestral descents, the similarities between them and U.N. delegates were obvious.

The differences, though, were even more so.

Here people of virtually all kinds are working together in harmony and enjoying it immensely.

They have no veto and no Gromyko Act whereby they can get up and walk out whenever the questions are hard to answer. But then again, this is one United Nations assembly where those things are not wanted.

Esquimalt Employees Organize Own Union

Employees of the Corporation of Esquimalt have organized themselves into a local union which will bargain with the municipal council for an agreement which will cover wages, hours of work and working conditions.

The local, to be known as Esquimalt Municipal Employees' Federal Union No. 333 (A.F.L.), includes in its membership inside and outside staff workers and members of the police and fire departments.

Bill Edgington has been elected president of the local and S. Tung is secretary-treasurer. Mrs. L. Richards is recording secretary.

Similar unions have been in operation in Victoria, Oak Bay and Saanich for some time.

No Decision Reached On Ceylon Conference

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent told a press conference Wednesday no decision had been reached on a proposed meeting of Commonwealth foreign ministers in Ceylon this year.

He said such a conference had been discussed at the meeting in London last fall of Commonwealth prime ministers and the prime minister of Ceylon had suggested the meeting be held in his country.

The general attitude was that such a meeting would be valuable but no decision as to time or place had been reached, Mr. St. Laurent said.

New Sport Makes Appearance

The latest in skiing thrills is "weasel-joring," demonstrated at Strawberry Lodge, Calif., in the High Sierras. Main idea is to hang on for dear life and to let the snow-weasel provide the motive power.

Students Take Lead In Senior B Cage Playoff

One-sided triumphs were racked up by Chinese Students and Eaton's in last night's cage playoffs at the High School gym while in the final league game of the intermediate B boys loop, K.V.'s proved too strong for a willing Warriors squad.

Students dropped Esquimalt Athletic Association, 38 to 25, in the first game of a best-of-three semifinal men's senior B series while Eaton's just about clinched a spot in the intermediate A men's finals with a 40 to 23 triumph over Eight Aces in the first game of a two-game, total-point semifinal.

UNDEFEATED

By whipping Warriors, 30 to 19, K.V.'s closed out the season with an undefeated record and captured the intermediate B boys league championship.

Esquimalt started fast against the Students, unbeaten in their last seven games, but after building up an 11 to 8 first-quarter margin, faltered, and the Students ran away and hid in the second half. Halftime score was tied at 13 to 13.

Tom Derr sparked the Students to victory with a total of 18 points. Dicks counted 11 for Esquimalt's high.

Eaton's also got away to a poor start in the game against Eight Aces and reached quarter time on the short end of a 12 to 8 score. Eight Aces continued to hold Eaton sharpshooters in check during the second quarter, and the teams reached the intermission tied at 19 to 19.

Eaton's Chick Geisser sparked a second-half drive that saw the winners outscore the Aces, 21 to 4. Geisser scored 11 points in the second half and took high point honors for the night with 16.

Naylor took scoring honors for K.V.'s with 11 points. Teams and scores follow:

K.V.'s—Roe 3, Naylor 11, Sanford, Hudson 4, Parker 8, McIntosh 4, Warriors—Kennedy, Hill, Clarkson 4, Trimble, McConchie, Parker, Callon 2, Player 4, Robt 5, Tolson. Eaton's—Clarkson, Matthews 1, Fields 2, Lewis 6, Bain 4, Geisser 16, Griffin 4, Robinson, Minnie 4, High Aces—Arceneau 11, Oakley 3, Boyd, Smith 4, Macie, Nash, Day, Nicholson 7.

Students—T. Derr 18, W. Derr 1, Lewis 4, John 3, Mar 4, Leaton. Esquimalt A.A.—Heatherington 6, Woodburn, Hatcher 1, McKenzie 4, Dicks 11, Lindsey, McDonald 4, Brown.

Eddie Shore Blasts Modern Ice Player

VANCOUVER (CP)—Eddie Shore, professional hockey's "Professor Emeritus" has little use for his modern prototype.

The National Hockey League firebrand of a decade ago, here today for a few hours before leaving for New York, threw a verbal body-check at the present-day player.

"They have no guts, and they don't know how to skate," he said.

"How can a man expect to play hockey when he strangles himself by skating bent over like a pretzel?" Shore said the stooping player ruins his scoring chances, cannot pass or receive properly, and is more susceptible to injury.

"But the worst result is that he tires too quickly. He isn't good for more than two or three minutes of steady, hard play, unless you attach a spare skate to the seat of his pants," he said.

"There's no comparison between the fastest skaters today and men like Howie Morenz and Fred (Cyclone) Taylor."

The proprietor of Shore's hockey chain said few players, especially in the minor pro leagues, are playing to the best of their ability.

"They just don't seem to have the guts," said the man who in his active playing career took a back seat to no one.

Shore said the reason for this "deplorable condition" is that hockey has changed from a sport to a commercial enterprise.

"In my day pros didn't get paid much. We played because we liked to," he said.

"For the players of today it's only pain, hard work—and hard cash."

Clark Wins Hoop Scoring Title With 16-Point Average

With a total of 199 points in 12 games for an average of better than 16 points a game, Johnny Clark of the league championship Y.M.C.A. basketball squad won scoring honors in the men's senior A loop, according to unofficial figures released today.

Reg Clarkson, playing coach of the "Y," finished in second place well behind Clark with a 142 total. Ernie Fox, Pro Pats bucketman, amassed 140 points for third place.

Hated Canadiens Draw Cheers In Toronto

Chamberlain; Richard Star As Leafs Blasted; Detroit, Boston Win

A star who has suddenly found the range after a slow start and a veteran who is considered near the end of the trail combined to lead the up-and-coming Montreal Canadiens to a 4 to 1 triumph over Toronto Maple Leafs Wednesday night.

It was a great night for Maurice Rocket Richard, playing in top form once again, and old hardrock Murph Chamberlain. Each had a hand in three goals as the Habitués thumbed the Leafs right in their own backyard.

The three top teams in the circuit all chalked up victories against second-division clubs in Wednesday night's National Hockey League bill. In other games the league-leading Detroit Red Wings edged Chicago 2 to 1 while Boston handed New York a 5 to 2 setback.

The results lengthened the gap between the three top and three bottom clubs. Detroit kept intact its five-point margin over the second-place Bruins, while Canadiens now hold a three-point edge over Chicago.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

The Leafs looked so feeble at times that some of the 14,347 fans cheered the hated Habitués.

Chamberlain tripled his season goal total by nicking a pair of goals while Richard and Billy

Reay collected the other markers. Richard gained assists on both Chamberlain goals, while Murph had a hand in the Rocket's score. The lone Toronto goal came from the stick of rookie Tod Sloan.

Kenny Reardon of the Habitués and Toronto's Cal Gardner sat out their one game suspension imposed by the league president after they had engaged in a wild stick-swinging duel the last time these teams met.

Bud Poile's sizzling drive from 40 feet out proved to be the margin of victory in Detroit's win over the faltering Black Hawks, who have only one triumph to show for their last seven games. Poile's long shot eluded goalie Sugar Jim Henry and broke a 1 to 1 tie.

In the opening period Sid Abel got the Red Wings' first goal—the 99th of his N.H.L. career. After a scoreless middle frame, Gus Bodnar banged one home off Doug Bentley's hook shot to knot the count in the third frame. Just 2½ minutes later, at 12:20, Poile sunk the clincher.

Paul Ronty and Pete Babando each sniped a pair of goals as Boston scored an easy triumph at New York. Eddie Sanford scored the other Bruin marker while Alex Kaleta and rookie Jack Gordon connected for the Rangers.

Ryan Asks $40,000 For Spokane Ball Interests

SPOKANE (AP)—Papers filed in Superior Court Wednesday reveal John (Buddy) Ryan has offered to sell his share in the Spokane Baseball Club for $40,000, to his partner.

Attorneys for J. Lamar Butler, other partner in the Spokane franchise of the Western International League, appeared in court asking that Ryan be required to file an official summons and complaint previously served on Butler.

Greenough said Ryan had served a complaint on Butler Dec. 3, asking for dissolution of the partnership. The attorney said the agreement provides that a partner wishing to dissolve the partnership must give the other owner first chance to buy for the seller's financial interest.

Ryan's present share in the club amounts to $9,883, Greenough said.

Judge Raymond F. Kelly issued the order directing Ryan to file the necessary papers.

The Spokane ball park burned last October and the owners disagreed shortly after the close of the 1948 season on how the club would be controlled and operated in 1949.

No plan has been announced yet for construction of stands to meet the opening of the league April 21 although it has been announced Spokane will field a team.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON
NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball historian Ernie Lanigan, who is sojourning in the sunshine at Tucson, Ariz., recalls an incident when Honus Wagner and the late Frank Bowerman, who became Christy Mathewson's catcher, were just youngsters in the old Iron and Oil League.

Bowerman, playing for the Denison-Orleans (Ohio) team, went after a foul fly one day, crashed into the stands and knocked the grandstand down....

Bob Quinn, who related the incident to Ernie, commented casually: "We had rugged athletes in those days."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
Besides editing a slick new magazine, Sports Illustrated, Rufus Stanley Woodward has written a book, Sports Page, which should be required reading for anyone who wants to break in the business.... And, speaking of magazines, Ted Williams has some interesting observations on the intentional walk in Sports World.... While some Texas fans figure golfer Billy Maxwell is second only to another Southern Methodist athlete, Doak Walker, as a prospect, Byron Nelson takes a more conservative view. "He has many faults he must overcome before he becomes a contender for even sectional titles," says Byron.

ROGERS SCORES 18 IN BLACKS' CAGE VICTORY
Sparked by Joan Rogers, Vic High Blacks broke a 14 to 14 halftime score to defeat Mount Douglas, 28 to 24, in an Interhigh School Girls' Basketball League game Wednesday.

Rogers scored 18 of her team's 28 points. Vivian Bartlett counted 14 for Mount Douglas.

WILLOWS SCHOOL SOCCER CHAMPIONS
Defeating Cloverdale 2 to 1, Willows School captured the Greater Victoria elementary schools junior soccer championship.

Richard Linton, Willows centre forward, scored both goals, one in each half. Dave Bruce played an outstanding game for Cloverdale.

McMORRAN'S CAPTURE SAANICH CAGE SERIES
McMorrans' Intermediate B boys cage squad knocked View Royal out of the Saanich and Suburban League playoffs last night though defeated 21 to 17 at Luxton Hall.

A 13-point spread gained in the first game of the series Tuesday when McMorrans defeated View Royal 27 to 14 stood Noel Andrews' unit in good stead last night. McMorrans won the round 44 to 35.

McMorrans will play the winner of the Saanich-Langford series in the finals.

West Heat Burners took a stronghold on their two-game, total-point series with R.C.E.M.E., defeating the soldiers 39 to 25 in a senior B men's game.

KAMLOOPS WINNER
VERNON (CP)—Playing in overtime with less than one minute remaining Cliff Mills slid the puck into an open corner of the cage to give Kamloops Elks a 5 to 4 win over Vernon Canadians in a Mainline Okanagan Senior "B" hockey game last night.

WOLVES EARN TIE
LONDON (CP)—Sudbury Wolves, who have yet to beat a British League team in their European hockey tour, Wednesday night held Earl's Court Rangers to a 3 to 3 tie.

The deadlock was the fourth in a row for the Wolves, who will represent Canada in the world championships at Stockholm next month.

ONE thing is certain. Individuals who consent to act on the new arena commission are going to take themselves no small undertaking. Once the contractors complete their work, the commissioners are going to have to get the building open to the public in the quickest possible order. Citizens who contributed their money to help construct the rink are sick and tired of waiting for the building to be finished and when the last nail is driven they will want to see the structure opened with the least possible delay.

CUBS WIN HOCKEY
VANCOUVER (CP)—New Westminster Cubs, cellar-dwellers of the Pacific Coast Senior B Hockey League, blasted Vancouver Indians 14 to 6 here last night. Nearly 500 fans saw the Royal City squad run up their tallies and pepper the Indian net with shots throughout the game.

Edmonton Flyers Blast Regina To Gain Lead

REGINA (CP)—Edmonton Flyers moved into the top spot in the Western Canada Senior Hockey League Wednesday night by winning 4 to 3 over Regina Capitals, with whom they have been waging a torrid duel for the lead, in a game that wasn't decided until virtually the last minute.

The game-winning counter came from Morey Rimstad's stick 1½ minutes from the end of regulation time. The 4,000 home fans watching the contest cheered on the Caps but the Flyers, although they had yanked goalie Bev Bentley in favor of an extra forward, simply couldn't knot the count.

The Caps, who still have two games in hand over the Flyers although they are a point behind the Alberta team, held the lead twice in the contest. They opened with the game's first goal, a tally by Harvey Barnes, in the first period, and then worked out in front again in the third period at 3 to 2. But the Flyers refused to be counted out.

Edmonton's goals went to Billy Maher, Freddie Smitten, Andy Clivechok and Rimstad. Those for Regina were counted by Barnes, Sweeney Schirner and Red Tilson.

Doug Bentley Takes Sole Leadership In Hockey Scoring Race
Doug Bentley set up Chicago's lone goal when the Black Hawks dropped another game to Detroit last night, and the assist broke a tie with teammate Roy Conacher for leadership of the National Hockey League scoring race.

It sent him into the top spot with 44 points. Montreal's Billy Reay are a goal to keep his hold on third place with 34 points, while Sid Abel of Detroit also connected once to vault into the fourth notch with 33.

Leaders follow:

D. Bentley, Chicago — 44
B. Reay, Montreal — 34
S. Abel, Detroit — 33
J. Conacher, Chicago — 32
Warwick, Boston — 28
Carveth, Montreal — 21

OF equal importance is the question of just who is going to operate the hockey franchise at the new arena. That part of the arena's operations has been shoved into the background in recent months. The hockey operator will have to be decided upon in the near future as the building of a prospective Coast League club for the 1949-50 season should start now. Next summer will be too late. Of course it is always possible one of the current Coast League entries might switch its allegiance to this city. In that case the problem would be solved. There has always been the feeling that Kenny McKenzie, owner of the New Westminster Royals, would like to move in here lock, stock and barrel.

Fresno's winning goal was made by Blink Belling in one minute 20 seconds of the overtime period.

Clie Dorohoy and Amy DuFault paced the New Westminster win. Each scored three goals. The victory ended a three-game losing streak for the Royals.

They scored a 7 to 6 overtime win over the Shamrocks Wednesday night at San Francisco. In the northland, the New Westminster Royals, northern division leaders, helped the Fresno case by walloping San Diego 11 to 2. The Skyhawks had been in second place in the southern section, but the loss left them a point behind the Falcons.

Caddie Scholarships Planned By P.N.G.A.

Directors of the Pacific Northwest Golf Association, meeting at Seattle recently, took steps to do something about the caddie shortage and to make caddie work a desirable and profitable occupation.

One of the major steps taken by the association was to accept custodianship of the Alex Rose Memorial Fund. The P.N.G.A. will sponsor and direct this activity with funds to be administered by the Western Golf Association.

Such funds will be available to provide tuition and other financial help to worthy young caddies or other golfers who would not be able to obtain a college education without the aid of such financial assistance.

A committee of nine under the chairmanship of Harry Givan of Seattle and including Gordon Verley of Victoria and Art Christopher of Vancouver was named by the P.N.G.A. to handle scholarship matters and to seek methods of raising additional revenue for scholarship purposes.

A sum of approximately $2,000 is now at the disposal of the committee and additional funds will be secured from exhibition matches, sweepstakes and the sale of tags to golfers.

55 SUBSCRIPTION
Golfers subscribing to the fund at $5 a head will have tags attached to caddie-bags signifying their subscription.

Complete working details of the fund will be announced soon in order that clubs with deserving caddies or juniors will be able to screen candidates for nomination to receive aid from the scholarship fund.

Other steps proposed were a standard rate of pay for caddies and a plan whereby caddies could learn the game properly under guidance of qualified professionals.

P.N.G.A. tournament this year will take place at the Seattle and Broadmoor Clubs in Seattle the week of July 11 to 16.

Wrestling Clan Back In New York Garden

NEW YORK (AP)—The telegram to the Associated Press sports department read: "The most important sports press conference of the year will be held at the Astor Hotel, Wednesday, Jan. 19. An announcement of national importance will emanate from this conference."

It was signed "Bill Johnston." Proper investigation led a reporter to a long conference room at the Astor where several assorted sports writers, radio announcers and television artists were seated.

The sports story of 1949 had reached the breaking point. "Gentlemen," Johnston said, "we are going to promote wrestling in Madison Square Garden. We have signed for one date, Tuesday, Feb. 22... We'll try to get more later, any dates the Garden will let us have."

"This is the first wrestling in the Garden since 1937," Johnston, who operates some 18 wrestling clubs in the New York area, thinks he has a chance to make some real cash. He may be right.

Television and Georgeous George—the perfumed gentleman with the valet—have revived the game in the United States.

Georgeous George, Primo Carnera, and a vast array of characters are under consideration for the first Garden show. There will be five or seven bouts with $7.50 tops.

Don't laugh too hard, Bub. It may sell out the Garden.

Spokane Flyers Win Over Nanaimo Squad

NANAIMO (CP)—Spokane Flyers of the Western International Hockey League Wednesday night drew first blood in their two-game exhibition series with Nanaimo Clippers of the Pacific Coast Senior B League, when they noised the islanders, 4 to 3, before a crowd of 2,200 fans.

Flyers took a 3 to 1 lead in the opening frame and split a pair of second period goals. Clippers got the only marker in the final canto and came within an ace of tying the score when they had a goal disallowed during the dying minutes.

Cy Rouse bagged two for Flyers, with two ex-Clippers, Hugh Scott and Carl Clarelli, nothing the others.

For Nanaimo it was Clay Leveil, Hugh Berry and Don McLean doing the sniping.

Swing Major Deal

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—President Al Stuphin of Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League Wednesday night announced an eight-player deal with Washington Lions.

In exchange for three members of the Barons and two others from Cleveland farm teams, the Barons get three new forwards from Washington—Ken Schultz, centre, and the Poyous twins, Dan and Frank, one a left wing and the other a right wing. All three are 25 years old.

The five players scheduled to go to Washington are right winger Bryan Hexall and centre Ab Demarco, both formerly of the New York Rangers; defenceman Julian Sawchuk, Augie Herchenratter, right wing with the San Francisco farm team, and Tom Forgie, centre with Minneapolis.

EQUALS RECORD

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Lloyd La Beach of Panama Wednesday night equaled the Australian record of 10.6 seconds for 100 metres at Sydney sports ground. La Beach finished two yards ahead of Herb McKenley of Jamaica, with Australian Morris Curotta third in a field of seven.

Vic High-College Cage Squads In Exhibitions

Basketball rivalry will be at its peak tomorrow night when the Victoria High Rep squads—boys and girls—stack up against the Victoria College teams in another of the popular Friday night exhibitions.

Since the inauguration of these affairs a few months ago, they have consistently drawn good crowds, as competition is always at its greatest. The students play with all the keenness of a championship game.

Tomorrow's games, especially the senior boys' tilt, is expected to be no exception, as the two squads have long been rivals and have been seeking an exhibition for some time.

The Victoria High girls' squad, coached by Sheila Stanley, is the strongest high squad in the city, and features the well-known scoring duo, Pat Mason and Cash Kennedy. Although the strength of the collegians is not known, it is expected that they will provide the city high club with plenty of competition. Game opens at 8.

COLLEGE LINE-UP

In the boys' game, the majority of the College squad are former Vic High students, who will be all-out to stop this year's rep squad. Don McKinnon, Bhagat Bas, Evan Oakley, Des Corry, John Canova and Bob Grundeson are all former V.H.S. performers, while others sporting the College colors will be Don Robinson, Jim Loutit, Keith Lamont and Ken Wright.

The Vic High squad will be without the services of Ian Firth, out with an injury, and possibly Walt Acreman, who has been troubled with a sore knee. Remainder of the squad includes Gerry Parker, Don Hendry, Bob Rowe, John Newton, Bruce Naylor, Alister Boyd,

Western Racing Breeders Lead In Producing Stock

WINNIPEG (CP)—F. F. Montague of Winnipeg was re-elected president of the Prairie Thoroughbred Breeders and Racing Association for the 1949 season, an association statement said today.

All other officers also were returned. They included vice-presidents, Lee Williams of Edmonton, J. F. Lunney of Regina, and R. H. Moore of Winnipeg.

R. James Speers of Winnipeg, honorary secretary, told the recent annual meeting that "since the inaugural meeting held in Winnipeg, Nov. 15, 1924, tremendous strides have been made in the breeding industry, with subsequent improvement in the class of horses and the quality of racing."

Delegates learned that greater relative progress had been made in the thoroughbred breeding industry in the west than in any other part of Canada. In 1926, 78 per cent of the Canadian bred horses foaled east of the Great Lakes. By 1947, with 1,000 Canadian bred racing, 496 or 47 per cent were foaled in the east and 504 or 53 per cent in the west.

Archie McIntosh, Bill Bamford, Buzz Hudson and Doug Stewart. Game time is 9.

Adding to the evening's entertainment will be the appearance of the Vic High Drum Majorettes, who will be seen during the halftime interval in the boys' contest. The rival cheering sections are expected to add plenty of color to the program.

Newark Will Hold Minor Ball Club For Another Year

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—The city commission met Wednesday with President Frank Shaughnessy of the International Baseball League and indications were that Newark Bears will remain here at least another year.

The commission promised Shaughnessy and general manager Parke Carroll of the Bears, representing the parent New York Yankees, that it would assume personal responsibility for jacking up attendance at Ruppert Stadium.

The Yankees have expressed a desire either to sell the Bears or move out of Newark because of financial losses and poor attendance.

Carroll replied that he could not make the decision himself.

but he doubted if "the organization I represent would take any action over the protests of those it has in charge here."

He added that he was favorably impressed with the proposals that had been set forth.

CRACKS RECORD

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Herb McKenley, Olympic middle distance runner from Jamaica, cracked the Australian record for 300 yards Sunday in an international track meet. He ran the distance in 30.4 seconds. The old mark was 30.7 seconds.

Trades And Labor Council Elects C. A. Peck Chairman

Twenty-one years ago today, C. A. Peck first attended a meeting of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council as a delegate. Today he is president of the organization which represents 65 trade unions with 9,000 members.

Mr. Peck, a soft-spoken foreman in the B.C. Electric line department, was elected president at the council's annual meeting to succeed A. P. Raymond. V. J. Baines, delegate from the Victoria Typographical Union 201, was elected vice-president, and Mr. Raymond, secretary. G. A. Wilkinson had announced earlier he would not stand for re-election as secretary-treasurer.

Before settling in Victoria, Mr. Peck was a "boomer" linesman, going to various power projects on this continent to string the power lines. He is president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 230, a member of the B.C. executive of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, and a member of the court of referees of the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Other officers elected Wednesday night were Walter Andrews, Victoria City Police Federal Union, sergeant-at-arms; Thomas E. Gooderham, Bakery and Confectionery committee. Pete Salaway, Victoria Newspaper Guild, chairman of press committee; Charles D. Davis, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of American Local 1598, chairman of legislative committee; Jeanne Jones, Office Employees International Union Local 15, chairman of halls committee, and R. E. Hill, Carpenters' Union, chairman of the building trades committee.

C. A. PECK

The council went on record as opposing any move to cut milk deliveries to every second day. Representatives of the Typographical Union reported new contracts had been signed with the two local daily newspapers, providing for wage increases.

2 NEW UNIONS

Delegates were presented from two new federal unions—the Felt and Allied Workers' Federal Union No. 327, and the Esquimalt Municipal Employees' Federal Union No. 333.

The following delegates were seated:

Herbert Fulthorpe and J. K. Carmichael, Felt and Allied Workers; William Reeve and Charles Eva, Esquimalt Municipal Employees; Fred Usher and Albert Oldall, Musicians' Mutual Protective Union; J. Framp-ton, R. Bexfield, G. Wilkinson, C. R. Saunders and G. Reside, Automotive Maintenance Workers; A. Adamson, International Association of Fire Fighters; F. Thomas, D. Cameron and A. G. Gillan, Street Railwaymen's Union; W. Richardson, Victoria Typographical Union; Elleen Cawsey, Mildred Morris, Violet Duck and Clarice Patterson, Retail Clerks' Union; Cecelia Daniels and John Aubrey, Retail Grocery and Food Clerks' Union; C. Webb, Walter Andrews and N. Galbraith, Victoria Police Union; H. J. Bligh, International Union of Operating Engineers, and J. A. Profit and A. Sandberg, Teamsters' Joint Council.

Redecorate, Improve School Auditorium

Victoria High School's assembly hall at present is undergoing extensive improvement and is being redecored for the first time in 13 years. Carpenters are making changes to certain parts of the auditorium to improve acoustical qualities and painters are applying a new color scheme. The ceiling and upper walls are to be light green, the lower walls light grey, and the base-board red.

Mayor Concerned Over Complaints On Fuel Delivery

Don't accept fuel wood delivered at night, and exercise more care in selecting your fuel dealer, is the advice of Mayor Percy George who today said he is "very much concerned" over the complaints being received from citizens that they have been "cheated" in ordering stove wood.

The complaints started to come into the City Hall nearly two weeks ago, and the matter has been referred to the City Council's business, trade and industry committee, to study and report.

The majority of the complaints are to the effect that fuel merchants have not delivered bone-dry good-burning wood which they have advertised.

CIVIL ACTION ONLY ANSWER

Mayor George said the only answer to the question in his opinion was civil action against the alleged offenders, but evidence would be most difficult to present to a court.

Employment by the city of an inspector would not do any good, either, the Mayor said, as this officer would be as powerless as the buyer.

"So all I can see as an answer is greater care on the part of the buyer," he stated. "Select reliable wood dealers when placing orders, and don't accept wood delivered when it is not light enough for you to inspect it."

Need To Enlarge St. Luke's Church

Reporting at the annual meeting of the parishioners at St. Luke's Church, Cedar Hill, the rector, Rev. F. Pike, said there were now approximately 500 Anglican families in the parish and it was imperative that the church be enlarged and that an assistant priest be appointed to help with St. Luke's and St. Peter's Mission at Lake Hill.

He thanked all the church committees and organizations for their loyal support during the past year.

He announced that he had appointed G. C. Grant as his warden for 1949. Hudson Jones was unanimously re-elected people's warden. The following were elected to the church committees: R. Porter, G. Love, J. Wilson, C. F. Gibson, A. Webb, W. M. Trull, C. Dickson, E. Mollett, A. Chard and Maj. Robertson.

Delegates to the Diocesan Synod were as follows: H. T. Goodland, C. F. Gibson, E. W. Savin, G. M. Walton, G. C. Grant, H. Jones; delegates to rural dean conferences, R. S. Twynning and A. Chard. The rector appointed the following as an advisory committee to act when called upon: E. Eavin, J. H. Halver, Col. G. A. Phillips, C. W. Walton, R. S. Twynning, H. T. Goodland, Brig-Gen. L. W. Miller, Gen. E. C. Ashton, Col. Johnson, C. S. Welchman, N. C. Bell, W. H. Carter, F. S. Mad-dock.

Chinese Delicacies Arrive In City

Lee Wah Kim, left, manager of Morley and Company, exporters and importers, and his son, Jack Lee, examine some of the Chinese delicacies which arrived in the city Wednesday. The latter holds in his right hand and dried shark fins in his left. On the counter are dried oysters, abalones, fish stomachs, beche de mer or sea cucumbers, a box of "lizard tonic" made from Chinese herbs, and a jar of ginger.

The largest shipment of Chinese delicacies to arrive here since before the war reached the city Wednesday.

The shipment itself is valued at more than $23,000, but with duty and freight charges of about $6,000 added, it totals almost $30,000.

Approximately 500 cases and barrels were trans-shipped from Vancouver, where the entire cargo of the St. Lake Chilco was unloaded.

The goods were bought by Morley and Company, local importers and exporters, who will sell the variety of Chinese foods to customers all across Canada. Lee Wah Kim, manager of Morley and Company, arranged for the shipment during a visit to Hongkong last fall.

The goods may sound queer to westerners, but not to the local Chinese community, who will pay high prices for the delicacies.

For a pound of dried oyster, they will pay $3. For abalones, the price ranges from $3 to $6 a pound. Beche de mer, or sea cucumbers, sell for $3.50 a pound, dried fish stomachs for $4.50 a pound, dried squibs, or small devil fish, for $2.50 a pound. A pound of dried shark fins costs $6. Two-pound jars of ginger go for $4.50, and for the same amount you can get a box of "lizard tonic" made from Chinese herbs.

Tea, soya sauce and dried vegetables made up the rest of the shipment, which is about twice as large as the usual one received here every month or so.

Allowance Branch Here Gains Praise

Victoria, with the co-operation of the provincial government, is one of the best operated branches of the family allowance, Dr. G. P. Davidson, deputy minister of welfare in the Department of Health and Welfare, said in Victoria Wednesday night, in the course of a departmental tour.

Family allowance cheques totaling between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000 annually mailed to approximately 150,000 parents in British Columbia to support 275,000 children under 16, is a big job, Dr. Davidson said. W. R. Bone is regional director of family allowances at Victoria.

"Family allowance is the major program of the department of welfare at the present time," said Dr. Davidson, who will leave tonight for Edmonton and Regina.

Suggests Part Of Taxes For Community Recreation Plans

If citizens want organized community recreation they should be willing to finance it through regular taxation or some other form of direct payment, the annual meeting of the Greater Victoria Recreation Council was informed Wednesday night.

Speaker was Ernest Lee, Vancouver, provincial director of physical education and recreation.

The meeting, held at the City Hall, elected 10 directors for two-year terms, who with 10 others who still have one year to serve, will select officers for 1949.

New directors are: Larry Brown, Burnside P.T.A.; Ald. Frank Mulliner, City Council; J. DeBourcier, Greater Victoria School Board; Mrs. M. Broad-ley, Sir James Douglas P.T.A.; Rev. F. Comley, Family Welfare and Children's Aid Society; H. Shemilt, Saanich Recreation Council; C. C. Howard, Victoria Elks Club; Reg. Hayward Jr., Victoria Eagles; and Ivan Temple, Beaver Club and minor hockey league.

Chairman of the meeting was Douglas Fletcher.

COMMUNITY RESPONSIBILITY

The main speaker, Mr. Lee, stressed that recreation was a community responsibility and that no higher authority had the right to dictate as to what forms it might take, how it should be administered.

He said that in numerous large centres community recreation was financed through taxation and administration was carried out by a commission or board.

This board, he said, would take over such things as management of the Memorial Arena in Victoria.

"There should be no problem there," he stated.

Mr. Lee said the federal government provided about $15,000 a year for physical education and recreation work in B.C. and that the provincial government provided about $75,000.

But most of the money was needed for the physical fitness program in the schools.

However, he added, there were possibilities that additional funds would be provided to include other aspects of recreation.

The speaker said that recreation must not be a financial responsibility of welfare groups or the Community Chest.

In answer to this, Dr. M. Sherman of the welfare committee here, said his group was interested, and took part in recreation work, because it was felt that recreation was important to the over-all development of family life.

Dave Becker, secretary of the Community Chest, also answered that the Greater Victoria Recreation Council was made an agent of the chest on the plan that it would be merely an organizational and co-operative body, not an actual functioning council.

Mr. Becker said the ultimate plan was for recreation to be financed through taxation or some other means.

SIXTY-UP CLUB

Mrs. H. Mackenzie gave an interesting report on activities of the "Sixty-up Club" which is a group of elderly people whose activities were sponsored by an organization fund of $370 provided by the Youth Action Committee.

This fund would be spent by April, Mrs. Mackenzie said, and it was the hope that money would be made available from some other source so that the club could continue to function.

Dr. Henrietta Anderson, organizing director of the council, reported on the work of the office staff, while Richard Reeve told of the publicity work carried out by the council last year. J. Halstead reported on playground work and other speakers included Ald. Mulliner, representing Mayor Percy George, and Ad. Duncan D. McTavish, City Council parks committee chairman, who promised co-operation in work of the council.

Mrs. Arnold Heads Aged Pensioners

Mrs. S. Arnold has been re-elected president of the Victoria Aged Pensioners' Association, which held its annual meeting in the Orange Hall, it was reported today.

Other officers elected were: Fred Smith, first vice-president; Mrs. Morris, second vice-president; Mrs. Edith Draper, secretary-treasurer.

Members of the executive chosen were: Mr. Jones, Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Laxton, Mrs. Dale, Mrs. Spositi, Mr. Gray and Mr. Scott.

Mrs. Ross Palmer was named honorary president and Joe North was chosen honorary vice-president.

Next meeting of the association will be held in the Orange Hall Feb. 3 at 2.30 in the afternoon.

All members of the Arion Male Voice Choir are advised that the concert planned for Port Alberni on Saturday has been canceled. In a letter received yesterday by James A. McVie, choir president, the Port Alberni committee said this action was necessary because of weather conditions.

Hatchery Production Of Oysters Foreseen By Washington Expert

The problems of producing oysters in hatcheries instead of tidal flats along the Pacific coast will definitely be solved in the very near future, according to Dr. T. Kincaid, former head of the University of Washington zoology department, who now is an expert on oyster production.

This opinion was expressed here Wednesday afternoon to about 40 B.C. oyster producers who had been invited to Victoria to study draft regulations on sanitary control of shellfish for B.C. Accompanying Dr. Kincaid to Victoria was C. R. Pollock, secretary-treasurer of the Pacific Coast Oyster Growers' Association, Seattle.

Dr. Kincaid, who now is 76 years of age and who was superannuated last year by the university, currently operates 53 acres of oyster fields at Willapa Harbor, Wash. He said that hatchery production of oysters had been frequently tried in the past without success but now was being successfully done in Japan.

Hatchery production of oysters, he said, would solve all the production problems of oyster growers, for they would no longer be at the mercy of the weather. He indicated that he would continue to study hatchery production methods.

In Japan, he said, hatchery production had been attempted in efforts to improve oyster stock. Efforts will be made to have a Japanese expert on hatchery culture brought to the Pacific Coast this year or next to advise U.S. and Canadian scientists, he said.

He mentioned that hatchery production of oysters had been studied also at Nanaimo.

Dr. Kincaid said that hatchery production of oysters would undoubtedly be made economically practicable.

FERTILIZER

Dr. Kincaid told the B.C. oyster growers that it now was possible to increase oyster production by use of fertilizer which increases the production of oyster feed.

He also reported:

1. The market was being expanded through the perfection of canned oysters.
2. The demand for smoked oysters was also increasing.
3. Canned oyster soup has been successfully produced and offers new market possibilities for oyster growers.
4. Attempts to powder oysters are proving successful and ultimately oyster spreads will be available.

Dr. Kincaid also predicted that the Pacific Coast oyster industry will no longer have to rely on Japan as a source of seed oysters in the future. He said he had developed techniques to predict, within 48 hours the time and extent of oyster seeding.

Oysters on the Pacific Coast spawn successfully only once in three or four years and it is necessary to import seed from Japan to maintain production.

Dr. Kincaid also said that he believed that more money could be made producing the small Olympic oysters at the present time than the larger Pacific oysters.

FEARS OVER-PRODUCTION
Mr. Pollock expressed fear that oyster growers on the Pacific Coast may have trouble maintaining prices during the forthcoming season because of heavy seeding operations in 1947 when the first shipment of seed from Japan was made in several years.

He outlined development of the oyster industry and told of the work of his organization in helping the individual growers.

The provincial health and welfare and the fisheries departments have co-operated in the preparation of the draft sanitary regulations for shellfish. The experts feel that the public health and the protection of the industry require a uniform set of sanitary control regulations. It is expected that the regulations will be submitted to the provincial cabinet shortly for adoption by order-in-council.

A request by the Greater Victoria School Board that April 15 be fixed as the date on or before which the school board's estimates of extraordinary expenditures will be received was referred to committee by members of Oak Bay Council Wednesday evening.

Young Pianist Shows Glowing Promise, With Masonic Choir

By AUDREY S.T.D. JOHNSON

Impressing her large audience with a performance that was as authoritative as her stage manner was quiet to the point of diffidence, Denise Mara established, Wednesday night, the fact that she is one of Victoria's leading pianists; and more than that, that she will not be long winning a Canada-wide reputation.

Miss Mara appeared last night with the Victoria Masonic Choir at the Empress Hotel, in a concert sponsored by the Victoria Musical Art Society.

The glowing promise the young artist holds for the future is solidly based on present achievements which are remarkable. A broad, powerful tone is balanced by her awareness of beauty and sense of delicacy. The result is that she uses dynamics purely for purposes of color and not as an exhibition. In her playing of the Bach-Tausig Toccata and Fugue in D Minor, she revealed a technical virtuosity fully able to deal with massive contrapuntal passages without strain or loss of the musical idea. The texture was richly three-dimensional.

The Chopin group assured us of the pianist's warmth and imagination. Here was the ideal Chopin, tender, human yet poetic, affected by the romance and drama of life, but always dreaming, sensitive and remote. Miss Mara's splendid rhythmic sense controlled her playing at all times, but most especially, her rubato—that "leaning about with-in the bars" which can be so disturbing when overdone and was so sensitive and proportionate in last night's performance. The group included the Nocturne Op. 27 No. 1, two Etudes and the Scherzo in B Minor. A Valse was added as an encore.

Four groups were given by the choir, conducted by C. C. Warren with George Peaker as the admirable accompanist. The singing was spirited with lots of vitality in tone and rhythm and a fine organ-like bass section. Without doubt, the finest performance was the unaccompanied rendering of Adam Carse's "The Tide Rises, The Tide Falls" in which there was some lovely sustained singing, finely built phrases and well controlled color.

Coming close to the success of this number was German's "O Peaceful Night" and Bantock's "Silent Strings." Mood and meaning of the text and tonal control in both these atmospheric pieces was most pleasing. In the luster type of song, such as "I Love Life" and "The Song of the Jolly Roger," while the vitality was present, an inclination to whip up the tempo a shade too fast, blurred diction and hustled the intonation out of line in spots. In the overall effect, one felt that the choir had done a pleasing job which could have been improved by greater strength in the tenor section and possibly, a happier acoustical set-up.

Dog Nabs Subway Nap

Three more subway passengers than usual rode standing up the other night. They were on the IRT's Columbia University run, but the tired occupant of their three seats wasn't carrying books. As at ease in society as a James Thurber canine, a shaggy-haired, draggle-tailed, yellow-eyed mutt dozed peacefully where three New Yorkers, their 10-cent fares duly paid, might have sat. The pooch struggled to consciousness at one point. He wearily accepted an offering of popcorn—"noblesse oblige." Obviously he had had a busy day. "So who are we to disturb him?" said three pairs of eyes, as the standees shifted on their straps.

AWKWARD PRICES???

FROM a seller's to a Buyer's Market??? Yes... that's what's happening. The customer is beginning to "shop" around, & to ask awkward questions about prices. We're alive to this situation, and so there's nothing "awkward" about $159.00 for a beautiful bedroom outfit, all complete with spring and S.F. mattress for only $159.00.

SELL YOUR GOODS, OR SELL YOUR STORE?

FOR THE PAST 2 YEARS we have talked about the harder selling days to come. It is now the opinion of the wise & seasoned that those days are now "practically breathing down our neck." It's NOT hard to sell this solid maple dinette (6 pcs.) for only $69.00. Dr. Chas. M. Edwards Jr., Dean of the N.Y. University School of Retailing, says: "You are now confronted with only 2 choices—"Sell your goods, or sell your store." We're selling our goods.

Steel Grey Market Shell Of Former Self

NEW YORK (AP)—The grey market in steel is only a shell of its former self, the Iron Age, metal-working trade weekly, said Wednesday.

"The only use which that market serves now is emergency supply," said the publication. "What there is left is taken care of by in-and-outers—those who need a small amount of stuff to keep operation schedules at a point where more profit for the manufactured product is possible."

Urges Sitters Keep Awake On Job

To be on guard against all emergencies which might arise

"baby sitters should stay awake while on the job," is the advice of Fire Chief Edward Clayards.

He advises all parents to supply the sitters with emergency telephone numbers to call firemen or police should the need arise.

The Oak Bay fire boss, who is chairman of the B.C. Fire Chief's Association education committee, pointed out the importance of showing sitters how to operate stoves and where first-aid supplies are available.

The chief urges parents to immediately notify the person "filling in" for them if they are going to be away from home later than they expected when leaving.

He points to Port Angeles' by-law which makes it unlawful to leave any child under the age of 12 unattended in a car, home or any other circumstances where the child may be in danger.

Barbara Ann Scott To Tour Cities In U.S.

NEW YORK (CP)—Barbara Ann Scott will probably be in Hollywood by spring. This was learned Wednesday night from a theatre source who also said announcement of a personal-appearance tour for Barbara Ann was likely to be made within a few days.

The source disclosed that between a Chicago booking next month and her arrival in California, the 20-year-old skater from Ottawa will be booked into theatres in several other U.S. cities. What cities are involved was not indicated.

A contract to appear in motion pictures probably will not be signed until Barbara Ann reaches the west coast, it was learned.

Most Changes In Small Fractions

NEW YORK (AP)—Buyers and sellers of stock didn't have much difference of opinion over prices in Thursday's market. Most changes were in small fractions. Volume was slow throughout. Turnover was at the rate of around 750,000 shares for the full session.

The president's inaugural address had no immediate effect although possible traders were taking time to digest the contents of the speech.

Among the few issues to rise more than a point at any time were Nickel Plate, U.S. Gypsum, Owens-Illinois, Amerasia Petroleum, and Consolidated Natural Gas.

Dome Mines led a weaker senior golds list and juniors showed losses ranging up to five cents. Wilsey-Coghlan was active, holding steady.

Grain

WINNIPEG (CP)—All prices showed an easier tone in light trade Thursday on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Expansion in commission house selling and declines in Chicago gains contributed to the declines.

Pleads Guilty To 2 Driving Charges

Lionel Arsenault appeared in city police court before Magistrate H. C. Hall today and pleaded guilty to charges of driving a car while his license was under suspension and for failing to return to the scene of an accident.

He was remanded to tomorrow for sentence. C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, read the defendant's driving record supplied by the B.C. Motor Vehicle Branch. On the evening of Jan. 15, Arsenault was in a collision with a car driven by Norman McMillan at the intersection of Courtney and Douglas Streets. He did not stop to render assistance and leave his name and address.

Police investigations, Mr. Harrison said, resulted in accused's apprehension. The driving record disclosed Arsenault's license has been under suspension since February, 1945.

Cold Weather Slows Herring Fishing

Only small catches of herring were taken last week by B.C. fishermen.

A report on production issued today by the chief supervisor of fisheries showed only 642 tons of herring taken last week. The week's catch brings the total for the year to 115,390 tons.

Bulk of the herring fishermen are on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

They are awaiting warmer weather to make fishing conditions easier.

French Freighter To Load Machinery For Rhine Barges

The French freighter Argentin will arrive here Saturday to load 445,920 pounds of machinery and equipment which was to have been installed in 23 Rhine River barges originally slated to be built here, but the contract for which was canceled.

Victoria Machinery Depot had a contract for 25 of the 200-foot long vessels, but completed only two. These were shipped to the continent in sections in the latter part of 1947.

The Argentin, now loading cargo at Tacoma, will back into the V.M.D. wharf behind the Cashless Restorer and take on 930 pieces, including refrigerators, cable, all types of machinery and equipment for the barges and a quantity of steel plates and angles.

The shipment is destined for the Chantier de Beisbosch shipyard at Rotterdam, where the 23 vessels are being built.

The Argentin will also load 150,000 feet of lumber here.

The shipment, now being assembled on the wharf, is only a little over half of the total amount of equipment
